VANCOUVER SHOP IS SCENE OF REVOLVER DUEL WITH BANDITS

Drug Clerk Exchanges Shots With Robber Gang Who Attempt Hold-Up of Store at Heather and Sixteenth—Woman at Wheel of Automobile in Which Desperadoes Escape

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14 (CP).—Frank Libby, twenty-one-year-old druggist's clerk, missed death by inches, tonight, when he thwarted an attempted holdup and routed a pair of bandits after a short but vicious gun battle in the J. W. Marcus drug store at the corner of Heather Street and Sixteenth Avenue.

The bandits fled in a waiting automobile driven by a woman, after firing three times at Libby. One bullet smashed into the wall about six inches from his head, the others going wild. Libby said he did not believe any of his three shots took effect.

Libby and Jimmy Robertson, errand boy, were in the prescription department of the drug store when they heard two men enter. Thinking they were customers, Libby told Robertson to wait on them. When the errand boy appeared in the front part of the store, one of the gunmen told him to "go back and lie down."

STARTED SHOOTING

Libby looked over the top of the small partition which separates the prescription department from the rest of the store, and saw an armed and masked man coming toward the rear. Grabbing his gun which lay on a shelf nearby, Libby rushed out and fired at the bandit who turned and ran to the front door. Libby turned to look for the second man and saw him leveling his gun. The second gunman fired three times at Libby, one of the shots striking the clerk's head. Libby returned the fire, shooting twice, but before he could fire again, the gunman turned and fled to the waiting automobile, where he joined his companion and the woman driver, and the three sped east on Heather Street.

GARAGE ROBBED

Earlier in the night three men held up the Speedway Service Station, Granville and Fifth Avenue, and escaped with $177 cash. George Stewart, attendant, said the trio drove up and asked for two gallons of gasoline. When he went into the office to change a bill one of the men handed him, two of the men followed him. Drawing guns they forced him to open the wall safe, which they ransacked of cash, then fled to their car.

NEARLY READY FOR REPUBLIC

Professor Says De Valera Will Soon Be in Position to Make Declaration

LONDON, Nov. 14 (CP).—"Within a very few months President Eamon de Valera will be in a position to declare an Irish Republic—both de jure and de facto," declared John Morgan, professor of constitutional law at London University, at a meeting of Irish Loyalists here tonight.

The meeting passed a resolution calling on the British Government to declare its intentions in regard to "repeated violations" of the Anglo-Irish Treaty, outstanding of which is the non-payment of land annuities that led to the tariff war between Britain and the Irish Free State.

LEGALLY DEAD

Professor Morgan said "the so-called treaty" was legally dead. The Dublin Legislature had abolished four of its most important clauses, embodying safeguards vital to maintenance of the British connection. He said Loyalist friends in Ireland had told him that German steamers were unloading cargoes at Irish ports with the greatest of secrecy, and he would leave his hearers to guess what those cargoes contained.

Mrs. A. G. McCandless Dies at Vancouver—Husband Was Mayor of Victoria

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14 (CP).—Mrs. Ella Gilmore McCandless, sixty-seven, who came here from Victoria in 1905, is dead. She was active in special work at St. John's Church here and was well known in musical circles. A native of San Francisco, she moved to Victoria following her marriage in 1889.

She is survived by her husband, A. G. McCandless, two daughters, Mrs. Stanley Small and Mrs. L. P. Smith, of Vancouver, and two sons, Kenneth D., of Vancouver, and Percy, of Los Angeles. Mr. McCandless was Mayor of Victoria in 1903.

Rapid Expansion of Eastern Organization Revealed in Figures for Commission

VOTING POWER HELD BY THREE AMERICANS

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 (CP).—The physical growth of Dominion Stores, Limited, and examples of low wages paid by Metropolitan Stores, Limited, and the United Five Cents to $1 Stores of Canada, Limited, were stressed today when the Mass Buying Commission continued its investigation of chain stores.

Dominion Stores, Limited, the first of the food chains to be reviewed, started in 1919 with two stores, and at the end of 1933 had 505, 107 in Montreal alone and ninety-seven in Toronto. The original invested capital was $20,000, but this was increased, year by year, until 1933 when it stood at $4,197,152. Sales jumped from $10,348,233 in 1924 to $25,200,149 in 1931, sagging to $10,758,367 in 1933.

CONTROL VOTING POWER

Seventy-one per cent of the shares of Dominion Stores is owned in the United States, and three men, Morely Smith, president; John B. Jameson, a director, and W. S. Kies, chairman of the board, have control.

MONTAGUE PUSEY DIES OF INJURY

Native Son and Ex-Serviceman Is Accidentally Killed While Digging Well at Rest Haven

Montague Pusey, forty years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Pusey, 2011 Cameron Street, was accidentally killed last night while digging a well in the vicinity of Rest Haven.

A smith's forge that was being used close to the top of the partly completed well toppled and fell into the hole, striking Mr. Pusey on the head, causing a fracture of the skull.

Mr. Pusey was a native son of Victoria and served with the Canadian forces overseas during the Great War. He is survived by his parents, six sisters and two brothers, all living in Victoria with the exception of one brother in Butte, Montana, and two sisters in Vancouver. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Twenty Thousand Reported in Heavy Fighting for Control of Two Important Chaco Strongholds—Conflicting Reports From Belligerents

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 14 (AP).—An estimated 20,000 men were engaged today in heavy fighting in the Ingavi and Pucubá sectors of the Chaco Boreal, where activity was concentrated as a result of Bolivia's latest offensive.

The Bolivian forces, aided by cavalry, were battering ahead in their drive to push Paraguay back from important Bolivian communications and supply centres. Already reports reaching this capital said they have regained 1,600 square miles of ground lost during Paraguay's August drive.

Plans to Fly From Los Angeles to Tokio About December 1

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14 (AP).—Monty Mason, Los Angeles aviator, announced today he planned to take off on a non-stop flight from here to Tokio, Japan, approximately 6,400 miles, around December 1. His plane has a small two-place cabin on top of a huge wing fifty-five feet, six inches long, and thirteen feet, six inches at the widest point.

Gasoline tanks, which hold 1,156 gallons, are housed in the big wing. By using a controllable pitch propeller, he said he expected to attain a speed of 250 miles an hour.

The aviator expected to make the trip in about thirty-seven hours, at an altitude between 15,000 and 25,000 feet. Robert Sherman Ross, wealthy Beverly Hills resident, is aiding in backing the flight.

Derides Panicky Views Regarding War Possibility

Former Commander of Canadian Cavalry Urges Necessity of Adequate Recruiting for Britain's Services—Secretary for War Admits Need of Sufficient Naval Strength

LONDON, Nov. 14 (CP).—Lord Mottistone derided panicky views as to the possibilities of the next war in a speech in the House of Lords, tonight, in which he stressed the need for an adequate number of recruits for the various fighting services.

TO REMAIN AS HOUSE LEADER

Henry Endorsed by Ontario Conservatives—Convention to Follow Session

TORONTO, Nov. 14 (CP).—Hon. George S. Henry, former Premier, today was endorsed as House Leader for the Conservative Opposition at the next Legislature session by Conservative members in caucus here today. The members recommended that a provincial convention be called immediately after the session to consider party leadership and policy.

Karl K. Hornuth, former Conservative member for South Waterloo, had called on Mr. Henry to resign and to summon a convention to choose a new leader. After the caucus today, Mr. Hornuth declared himself satisfied with the results, and maintained he had "won the fight."

WELL WORTH WHILE

"I feel that the course I have taken was well worth while," Mr. Hornuth said. "Western and Northern Ontario members are now going to be called into consultation, and, after the session is over, the reorganization of the party as a whole can take place."

The members also recommended that all Conservative candidates at the June 19 provincial election be summoned into conference with Mr. Henry and his Legislature followers before the session convenes. The conference would be for the purpose of considering party questions and advice to members. Mr. Henry declared this would be accomplished at the earliest and most advantageous opportunity.

SEWARD, Alaska, Nov. 14 (AP).—Another gold find on the beaches below Ninilchik, in Cook Inlet, led prospectors today to look for the mother lode back from the shore. The find was reported today by Ted Crawford and John Kelly. A few weeks ago, Frank Cooper washed twelve ounces of placer gold from the beach.

SEEK SPREAD OF RECOVERY

Two Commissions Charged With Reviving Hopes in Three Depressed Areas

LONDON, Nov. 14 (CP).—The United Kingdom, with general recovery from the depression having spread to most parts of the country, today opened a determined attack on those areas which prosperity seemed to have forsaken forever.

Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced to a sympathetic House of Commons the establishment of two special commissions charged with bringing new hope to those areas long distressed. They are in South Wales, Northern England, and the Scottish Clydebank.

A sum of $10,000,000 will be set aside from public revenues in the current year to finance the activities of the commissions, one of which is to deal with England and the other with Scottish depressed areas.

WILL HAVE FREE HAND

The commissions are to devote their whole time and attention to the problem of the still destitute areas, he declared. They will have the widest possible authority, and will have a free hand to experiment.

The chairman of the English commission is Percy Stewart, head of the Associated Portland Cement Manufacturers, and heading the Scottish commission is Sir Archibald Rose, chairman of the management commission of the Edinburgh Savings Banks.

The Government, said Mr. Chamberlain, believed the commissions should frame schemes for employing local labor in the "derelict" districts to plan them afresh, with a view to making them more attractive and affording fresh incentive for new industries.

He also suggested that the commission be given a free hand.

NO TRACE FOUND OF MISSING YOUTH

NANAIMO, Nov. 14 (CP).—Game Warden Frank Greenfield and 100 searchers returned tonight without having found any trace of Charles Spence, twenty-one-year-old Five Acre youth, missing since he disappeared while on a hunting trip Sunday.

Since daybreak until late tonight Warden Greenfield and the search parties scoured the timberland district, ten miles north of here, where Spence disappeared, without success. Another large party of searchers will leave again tomorrow morning.

Increased Planting Of Trees Urged by Young British Peer

Statement That Canadian Forests Being Depleted Discounted by Provincial Officials—Claim British Market Can Be Supplied Indefinitely

LONDON, Nov. 14 (CP).—Substantial increase in afforestation in Great Britain was urged in the House of Lords, tonight, by Baron Derwent, and received a sympathetic hearing by the Government.

Lord Derwent said it was "deplorable" that the United Kingdom should depend for more than 60 per cent of its timber on virgin forests in foreign countries, which were being steadily depleted.

Importations from the Empire, he pointed out, fell from 22 per cent of the total consumption in 1901 to 10 per cent in 1913.

"Every year we are becoming more dependent on Russia," said the youthful peer, who incidentally lists "exercising patience with the national climate" as his chief recreation. "The Canadian forests, which are being rapidly depleted by fire, are the only source on which the United Kingdom can fall back if supplies from Russia fail, and, unless the Canadian forests can be adequately protected and made available in case of necessity for the United Kingdom, it is certain the timber area within the United Kingdom must be increased far beyond the present."

J. A. CLARKE MADE EDMONTON MAYOR

Chief Magistrate for Past Three Years Badly Defeated in Five-Cornered Contest

EDMONTON, Nov. 14 (CP).—J. A. Clarke, Independent Labor Party nominee, tonight was elected mayor of the city, an unofficial count giving him a 400 majority over Ald. J. Ogilvie, Civic Government Association candidate. D. K. Knott, Labor mayor of the past three years, was down nearly 4,000 from the leader.

Mr. Clarke was mayor in 1919 and 1920, and the present campaign marks the twelfth time he has sought the mayor's chair.

Mr. Clarke was successful this year in a field of five. The unofficial count, with one small poll missing, was: Clarke, 9,865; Ogilvie, 9,440; Knott, 5,920; Rice Sheppard, Independent, 1,821; F. J. Speed, fifty-two.

HAVE GREAT SPEED

LONDON, Nov. 14 (CP).—Great Britain's latest battle planes have a speed of 230 miles an hour, Sir Philip Sassoon, under-secretary for air, said today in the House of Commons.

DAMAGE EXTENSIVE

Buildings, crops and shipping in Southeastern Luzon, the island on which Manila is located, were badly hit. Ships at sea were unable to communicate with the mainland. The American oil tanker Larry Doheny, which nearly foundered in the Pacific during the terrific storm of three weeks ago, sailed from Manila for Los Angeles only yesterday and presumably was in or near the affected area.

Three provinces were isolated quickly as the furious storm hit the islands southeast of here. Torrents of rain damaged banana, coconut, hemp and other crops. Telephone lines and power lines were downed, and other havoc in the provinces of Samar, Leyte and Sorsogon.

BURNS FATAL TO THREE CHILDREN

Small Baby and Parents Injured When Fire Destroys Alberta Dwelling

EDMONTON, Nov. 14 (CP).—Three children are dead, and their parents and a fourth child are in hospital here as a result of a fire which destroyed their farm shack near Aleske, in the Buck Creek district, today.

Two of the children died while a doctor was rushing them over seventy miles of road to Edmonton, and the third died tonight in hospital.

The dead are: Doreen Broulette, four; Gerald Broulette, two; Donald Broulette, five. The injured are: Dennis Broulette, seven weeks; J. T. Broulette, thirty-three, and Mrs. J. T. Broulette.

The parents and the fourth child are expected to recover.

CAUSED BY EXPLOSION

The fire was caused by an explosion of distillate, a tractor fuel fluid more inflammable than gasoline, which Broulette had sprinkled on a sluggish fire in the kitchen stove early today.

Mrs. Broulette and the children were in bed in the small single room of their log home when fire enveloped the dwelling. Broulette tried desperately to pull open the door that would not yield, while the mother grasped her seven-week-old baby in one arm and strove with equal desperation to pluck the other children from their cribs.

RACE WITH DEATH

Finally, the door was opened and the father dashed to the open with a child under each arm, and the mother followed with the baby and the fourth child. Dr. M. Hankin, of Thorsby, traveled twenty miles to reach the home, and raced with three of the children toward Edmonton, but two of them died before arrival here. The parents and the third child were brought in in another car.

AIR MAIL RATES BROUGHT DOWN

Reduction in Britain Only First Move in Plans for Imperial Development

LONDON, Nov. 14 (CP).—Described as only the first instalment of plans for further development of Imperial Airways air mail traffic, reduced postal rates for Empire air mail were announced tonight, effective on Saturday.

The adoption of a broad policy of sending international first-class mail by air was also included in the Postmaster-General's announcement. The new rates are twelve cents per half-ounce for letters from Britain to East Africa, South Africa, India and Singapore; and six cents per half-ounce to Egypt, Palestine, Syria, Transjordan, Iraq, Persia and the Sudan.

League of Nations

Is Studying Plans For Poll in Saar

Political Atmosphere Is Disturbed by Many Rumors of Putsch by Germany—Treaty Regulations Do Not Give Explicit Information

GENEVA, Nov. 14 (AP).—With Europe's political atmosphere disturbed by reports German Nazis are planning to seize the Saar by force and French preparations to forestall any Putsch, the League of Nations Council will meet November 21 to complete arrangements for the Saar plebiscite.

Tension prevailing during the recent weeks has lessened, however, during the past few days as the result of statements by German authorities that no Putsch is being prepared and disclaimers by the French that they intend to send troops into the region.

(Residents of the rich Saar basin, governed since the treaty of Versailles by the League, vote January 13 to remain under the League, go back to Germany or join France).

MAY BE BENEFICIAL
German circles at Geneva tonight expressed the belief the disarmament situation, in so far as Germany is concerned, may be clarified after the plebiscite which, it is agreed here, will remove a serious problem from the Continent's political life.

The Germans, however, insist that there must be recognition of their right to equality in arms before they return to the disarmament conference.

The council's chief task at its meeting here will be to devise ways of interpreting the will of the voters as expressed at the plebiscite.

LACKING CLARITY

There is no treaty provision which declares a majority vote of the inhabitants will decide the issue for the territory as a whole. It is certain electoral districts vote overwhelmingly for League trusteeship or annexation to France, it is believed juridically possible for the council to allocate these regions in accordance with the will of the voters.

France has made one proposal which many believe will likely increase the probabilities that the Saar as a whole will vote for League trusteeship. She has asked that the council, at its special session, map out much of an autonomous government the Saar would be granted if it voted to continue under the League, and indicate whether a second plebiscite would be possible.

BREACH IS MADE

OF REGULATIONS

Nominal Fine Imposed by Police
Magistrate in Case Where Oil Burner Was Installed

The charge against J. A. Gauthier of having installed an oil burner without having first obtained the necessary permit, which has been repeatedly adjourned, was disposed of in the City Police Court yesterday when the defendant was found guilty of a technical violation of the statutes and was fined a nominal amount, $5.

W. C. Moresby, K.C., who appeared for the defendant, stated that not guilty in order to bring the details before the court. He recited the circumstances connected with the alleged violation of the regulations, explaining that there was no intention on the part of his client to violate any requirement.

Mr. Gauthier, it was explained, had entered into a contract with a Montreal manufacturing firm to take over the selling rights of their oil burner for British Columbia. One of the conditions of the contract was that the burners were to comply with all regulations.

REVIEWED HISTORY
The negotiations with the fire marshal, J. A. Thomas, and with the head office in Montreal, were reviewed by Mr. Moresby, who said that the defendant was never able to get a copy of the regulations. He had secured a copy of the amendments, but not the main regulations. This was contradicted by Prosecutor C. L. Harrison later, who said that the main copy of the regulations had been handed to the applicant by the local fire chief, acting for the marshal.

The negotiations showed that it was necessary to have the authorization of the Fire Underwriters' Association and that the National Research Council was required to pass on the equipment before it was permitted to be sold. The latter had been done, it was believed, but whether it would be necessary to take out the machines that had already been installed and replace them with the approved type, was not known as yet.

NO SEVERE PENALTY
Mr. Moresby said that the deputy attorney-general had expressed the opinion that no severe penalty should be imposed.

The magistrate said that it was evident there had been no intention to evade the regulations, but there had been a breach committed.

RESCUED FROM FIRE

STARTED BY HERSELF

CALGARY, Nov. 14 (CP).—Surrounded by dense clouds of smoke, a young woman narrowly escaped death in a fire she is alleged to have started in the basement of the Anglican Church at Ogden, a Calgary suburb, late Tuesday afternoon. An unknown pedestrian broke a window and rescued the woman. She was in police custody today, held for mental examination.

Blame Food

For Illness Of Workers

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14 (AP).—Fifty-two men in State Emergency Relief Administration Camp in the Malibu Mountains near here have been stricken with a mysterious sickness, believed to have been caused by food, Dr. J. L. Pomeroy, county health officer, announced today.

Nurses and physicians have been dispatched to aid the stricken men, who compose about one-fourth of the entire camp. Doctor Pomeroy said they were stricken Tuesday night about the same time.

Samples of the food served on Monday were obtained by Dr. R. V. Stone, head of the health department's laboratory, and Chief Quarantine Officer Carl Williams. Doctor Stone said it would be several days before he could determine if the sickness was caused by food poisoning.

In addition to the Malibu Mountain camp attacks, Dr. Pomeroy said several cases of mysterious illness have been reported at the Piru, San Francisco and Newhall camps.

TREATMENT FOR

ELECTROCUTION

Only One of Three Kinds of Death Irrevocable, Says Scientist

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP).—Two treatments promising to bring back from death the majority of persons accidentally electrocuted were described tonight by Professor W. B. Kouwenhoven, of Johns Hopkins University, to the New York Electrical Society.

They are based on experiments revealing the three kinds of death from electric shock—only one of which is irrevocable. In the other two types, Dr. Kouwenhoven said, "death is only apparent," and these make the majority of accidental electrocutions.

The two treatments are based upon seven years' experiments at Johns Hopkins, jointly by the electrical engineering, the medical and the hygiene departments.

The electrocution for which there is no remedy comes when the current flows directly through the nerves and brain, destroying nerve cells.

AFFECTS THE LUNGS
Another form of shock death which at first is only apparent, affects the lungs. When, for example, contact is made at two points on the same arm or leg, no current reaches the brain. But the nerves themselves set up a series of stimuli of their own. These reach the brain and block the regular nerve dispatching system. Artificial respiration, if prompt enough, brings such persons back to life. It has to be continued until the nerves get over their upset.

The third form of electric death which is only apparent affects the heart. Experiments have shown, Dr. Kouwenhoven said, that a usual harmless current of only one-tenth of an ampere, when flowing between hands and feet, may produce this heart death.

CAN BE RESTORED
The technical name for this is fibrillation. The heart is not dead in the least, but the effect is to bring on quick death. Such a heart can be put back into stride by proper medical treatment.

One emergency method of restoring the heart pace, described by Dr. Kouwenhoven, is the "counter-shock." This is use of a large current, carrying a shock so heavy it completely stops all heart movement, even fibrillation. The heart resumes synchronized beating.

PLANS BIGGER

SHIPS ON RUN

Addition of 10,000-Ton Vessels in Pacific Service Is Now Mooted

Plans for the addition of a fleet of 10,000-ton passenger liners for the Pacific Coast-Europe trade have been mooted by the Compagnie Generale Trans-Atlantique, France's largest steamship company, according to word received on the Coast. Details of the new liner service are not yet complete, but the project is said to be under serious consideration.

Officials declare that the new ships to this Coast would be vessels at present operating in the company's France and West Indies service. These ships, which include the Columbia-Cuba, Flandre, De-Salle and Macoris, could easily be scheduled to extend their present run from the West Indies on through Panama and up the Pacific Coast.

One of these larger vessels would call at Pacific Coast ports each month to augment French Line service now maintained by nine new but smaller vessels. Ships of the Columbia-Cuba type carry approximately 450 passengers in addition to large amounts of freight, and are by all odds larger in capacity than anything now in the Pacific Coast and European service.

French Line service to this coast has been growing steadily. In 1932 the company had eighteen sailings to Europe from Los Angeles Harbor. Twenty-eight ships are sailing this year, and from thirty-two to thirty-six sailings are planned for 1935.

KIDNAPPED CHILD

FOUND MURDERED

Body of Girl Missing for Two Months Found in Shallow Grave in Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 14 (AP).—A baby tooth lifted the veil today from the strange disappearance of six-year-old Dorothy Ann Distelhurst nearly two months ago and revealed her as the victim of an abductor and murderer.

A child's body, so badly decomposed from lying in a shallow grave on Nashville's outskirts that recognition of physical characteristics was impossible, was identified by a physician and dentist from a small filling in the second upper molar.

The body was found late yesterday in a secluded section by two Negro workmen. There was a rag bag in the mouth and the left side of the skull was crushed as by a hammer.

Immediately it was determined that the kindergarten student, who disappeared September 19 while on her way home from school, had been kidnapped and murdered, the United States Department of Justice and state law agencies joined in an intensive search for the slayer and for a motive.

STANDARD ALARM

SYSTEM IS URGED

Installation of standard fire alarm systems in the larger city schools was recommended by Fire Chief Alexander Munroe, in a letter to the city school board last night. He informed the board that he had inspected the schools, and wished to compliment the principals and teachers on the efficiency developed among the children in respect to fire drills.

However, he made two recommendations, one of which already has been outlined. The other was that the fire exit in South Park school adjoining the stage in the auditorium be made more accessible to the pupils.

CITIZENSHIP

QUESTIONED

Battle for Election as Sheriff Is Sequel to Erland's Point Murders

BREMERTON, Wash., Nov. 14 (AP).—The gruesome Erland's Point massacre mystery bobbed up again today and temporarily thwarted the election of Rush Blankenship as sheriff of Kitsap County.

A Superior Court restraining order was issued when J. W. Bryan, counsel for Amos B. Corliss, Republican candidate for sheriff, asserted in court that Deputy Sheriff Blankenship's fingerprints daubed about the cottage in which six persons were butchered, identified Blankenship as the convict who served a one to five-year term at Kansas State Penitentiary for fraud.

Bryan contended Blankenship lost his citizenship when convicted, therefore could not be elected. He alleged other irregularities in connection with Blankenship's candidacy.

The chief of police of Bremerton confirmed the identification. Rush Blankenship became a sticker candidate on the Democratic ticket when his brother, Sheriff D. L. Blankenship, who was seeking reelection, was killed in an automobile accident two days before the election.

MYSTERY NEVER SOLVED

D. L. Blankenship led the search for the Erland's Point murders last Spring, but the mystery was never solved. No motive was apparent, and few clues were found. Rush assisted his brother in the investigation.

A third brother, Walton, filed an affidavit in court in support of Corliss' contention that Rush is not a citizen, his affidavit affirming the fraud conviction was true and stating Walton would be in fear of his life if Rush were elected sheriff, since Rush accused him of circulating the story.

The restraining order, signed by Superior Judge H. G. Sutton, was served upon the Kitsap County election board and upon Rush Blankenship, who is ill at St. Joseph's Hospital, Tacoma. It directed the board not to issue a certificate of election to Blankenship pending hearing on the case on its merits, probably next Monday, before a visiting jurist.

CONVICTED IN KANSAS

Bryan stated in court that Blankenship was convicted in Bourbon County, Kansas, of ten counts of fraud.

"Blankenship's fingerprints were found at the cottage in which the Erland's Point murders occurred," Bryan told the Associated Press, along with those of other officers and newspapermen who visited the cottage, until police finally closed it, and were broadcast in the search for the murderers. Officials of the Kansas Penitentiary identified them."

Rush Blankenship was in the same automobile accident in which

SEA POWER

There is no reason to suppose or expect that the Japanese Government will relinquish its claim to parity in sea power. There is no reason why the differential ratio between Japan and the other Powers should be maintained. It has been made clear by the official attitude of Tokyo that Japan will sign no new treaty unless it is on a basis of parity. Moreover, if that basis is not agreed to, the probability is that Japan will denounce the Washington Treaty before the end of the present year, and that is two years before the end of its present period of validity. Much time would be saved in futile conversations were Japan's claim to parity admitted. It has become a question in Japan of national prestige. She can perceive of no reason why she should have to accept a lower standard of strength than other countries.

It is upon the basis of recognition of her claim to parity that Japan is anxious to enter into negotiations for reductions of naval strength. She has put forward a very definite plan in the latter regard. That plan recognizes a primary distinction between offensive and defensive weapons. In the category of offensive naval armaments is included aircraft-carriers, capital ships and cruisers which were reckoned as belonging to the A class in the London Treaty. By the A class is meant cruisers which carry guns of more than six-inch calibre. Japan's proposal is that in this matter of offensive armament each category should be limited separately, in other words, that there should be a limited and equal number of aircraft-carriers, capital ships and A class cruisers for each country. Moreover it is suggested that the limitation should be drastic; in fact Japan would subscribe to the abolition of aircraft-carriers altogether. That is an indication of her desire for reduction in offensive weapons.

The Japanese plan recognizes that defensive naval armaments are composed of small cruisers, destroyers and submarines. The suggestion is that the tonnage of those accorded to each Power should be reckoned globally. The tonnage suggested is the same for each of the three great naval Powers. The equality which Japan seeks with Britain and the United States is theoretical. She would not necessarily build up to their strength, but would regard herself as having the right to do so in the case of any emergency. Japan does not admit the American argument that under the 5-5-3 ratio she is unassailable in her own waters; indeed in that respect she points out that the American Fleet is also unassailable in its own waters and that parity with that fleet would make no difference.

Britain is willing to grant Japan theoretical parity. Her attitude, according to The London Times, has been one of listening to the proposals of the other parties at the bilateral conversations in London. It has, however, been a consistent view in Britain that there should be a further reduction in the size, numbers, gun calibre and cost of all classes of ships. Moreover, the British viewpoint is that her present number of small cruisers for patrol work is inadequate for the protection of the Empire's trade routes. Under the London Treaty she is allowed but fifty of these cruisers and Mr. Ramsay MacDonald has pointed out that the Admiralty's position is that "under international conditions, such as they exist today, the number of fifty cruisers could be accepted for a strictly limited period, provided always that other Powers met our standard of fifty, and provided that in our number, that is, in our fifty, there is a proper proportion of new construction suitable for extended operations."

It is almost axiomatic to suggest that no good will ensue from the present naval conversations unless and until Japan's claim to parity is admitted. That is the starting point for the success of the Naval Conference of 1936. It is conceivable, too, that this recognition of Japan's place in the hegemony of nations would result in her re-entry as a member of the League at Geneva. The defection of no Power from that League has led to greater possibilities of its futurity in the future than the absence of Japan from its councils. It is true the United States is not interested in this phase of the international situation, but Britain is. That is possibly why Britain is throwing no obstacles in the way of Japan's just and legitimate claims to naval parity.

AVIATION IN THE STRATOSPHERE

Breakfast in New York and dinner in London as a commonplace fifty years hence is envisioned by a writer in the current issue of The New York Times. In that day the trans-Atlantic speedway will be in the stratosphere ten miles above the earth and through it the airplane will dart. Enormous speed has already been developed in the dense, oxygen-laden atmosphere of the earth. Under special conditions an Italian, Francesco Agello, has sped his machine over Lake Garda at the rate of 440 miles an hour. From experiments in overcoming speed resistance aviation engineers consider that 600 miles is the limit of speed in the atmosphere of the earth. For commercial purposes the limit is probably less than half of that pace.

It is up into the stratosphere that the aviators must climb in order to attain a commercial speed of 600 miles an hour. Here there are no clouds, no storm, no wind and the air is one-ninth as dense as at sea level. With the air resistance lessened and given the same energy an immense advance in speed will be obtained. In the trial trip between Los Angeles and New York taken last week a passenger airplane by climbing up three miles and a half made 220 miles an hour. In the rarified atmosphere passengers and crew had to take occasional draughts from the oxygen tank. In the stratosphere flights of the future a hermetically sealed fuselage, properly warmed and equipped with oxygen tanks and ventilating system, will house those that travel through this icy, lifeless field.

The engines which need air as much as a human being will be supplied with the breath of life, perhaps oxygen. The propeller finds it harder therefore to propel the airplane forward. An adjustment must be made in the pitch of the propeller to suit the varied density of the air as the machine rises. Successful experiments have been already made that ensure the overcoming of this difficulty.

Let the imagination play around one of these phantom birds fleet through cloudless, windless space at a thousand miles an hour with a dozen souls ensconced under its wings. They peer at the mottled cloudland below, at the inkly ionosphere above. An exploring balloon swings into sight and in a flash is left a score of miles behind. If by any chance the shadows of "Old Grey Dobbin" or the post-horse of a century and a half ago should haunt these upper spheres, what will they think of these whizzing monsters of the twentieth century? The post-horse trudged over English roads at four miles an hour; the stratosphere airplane will devour that distance in fifteen seconds.

FLOWERS IN BLOOM

There was an early Summer this year and flowers were in bloom far ahead of their schedule. The mild character of the weather this Autumn has kept the gardens perhaps more prolific in blooms than for many years past and in this respect Victoria has as good, if not a better, record than anywhere else on the Canadian Pacific Coast. Seemingly it is the same in Britain for a correspondent who lives at Sevenoaks in Kent has been boasting that she had fifty-five plants in bloom on October 25. She gives a list of these and it would be of interest to know how local gardens compare about this time of the year with the cottage garden of the correspondent in Kent. Here is her list of blooming plants on the date in question which should arrest the attention of all flower-lovers:

One, Achilles; two, scabiosa; three, linum; four, phlox; five, nasturtium; six, sedum; seven, larkspur; eight, gum; nine, sweet pea; ten, campanula; eleven, Canterbury bell; twelve, Siberian wallflower; thirteen, viola; fourteen, escholtzia; fifteen, wallflower; sixteen, zinnias; seventeen, calendula; eighteen, aster; nineteen, convolvulus; twenty, stocks; twenty-one, alysum; twenty-two, dahlias; twenty-three, cornflower; twenty-four, nemesis; twenty-five, helianthus; twenty-six, pentstemon; twenty-seven, rue; twenty-eight, Michaelmas daisy; twenty-nine, linaria; thirty, roses; thirty-one, agrostema; thirty-two, St. John's wort; thirty-three, nepeta; thirty-four, Oriental poppy; thirty-five, Shirley poppy; thirty-six, antirrhinum; thirty-seven, anemone; thirty-eight, candytuft; thirty-nine, geranium; forty, violets; forty-one, shasta daisy; forty-two, salpiglossis; forty-three, chrysanthemum; forty-four, goat's beard; forty-five, delphinium; forty-six, helianthus; forty-seven, veronica; forty-eight, lobelia; forty-nine, oxalis; fifty, aubretia; fifty-one, lithospermum; fifty-two, primroses; fifty-three, saxifraga; fifty-four, ranunculus; fifty-five, pansies.

THE VOICES

Here inn the wind's brief silences are heard
Voices beyond the bourne of this vast wood,
Voices whose words are echoes blown and blurred
By the great gusts that shake this solitude.
Yet one sharp voice we clearly can divine,
The last lone lyric of a vanished throng.
Who from the pillar of a tarnished pine
Defiant shoots the arrows of his song.
Into the din of tossing trees that grind
Their mighty limbs together, beam on beam,
The rainy sound of leaves rushed down the wind,
And sleepy murmurs of the half-hushed stream.
Above all sounds his voice rings sharply clear;
Above the voices, too, of those far friends
Whose words are only echoes in our ear
And who await us where this forest ends.
—J. C. M. Duncan in The Montreal Star.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Accuse not Nature, she hath done her part.
Do thou but think.

—Milton.

Beware of entrance to a quarrel.

—Shakespeare.

Learned scientists, persistent investigators and tireless researchers are hopeful that in process of time they will succeed in discovering what is probably the most mysterious of all things, concrete or abstract: the elusive principle of Life. If casual observers of the ways of Nature keep their eyes open almost anywhere in the mild morning of Victoria on these mild mornings, they will notice a curious phenomenon. This is the Fall of the year, and most of the leaves on the trees, shrubs and vines, whose name is abundance, have fallen. The curious phenomenon, easily discoverable, is that while the leaves are still falling, on some of the softer woods buds are forming and preparing to burst into new leaves.

The Summer is past, the lawyers and judges have had their long vacation, but Nature provides no long vacation for her products, including those vagarious products, newspaper men. We are living in what geographers call the temperate zone. In that zone the customary procedure is for nature to take an annual vacation. Many of the animal products of Nature follow the example of their wise mother and rest in deep sleep until the return of the sun from his annual southern trip warns them that it is time to wake up and proceed with their lawful occupations.

That is why the unreasonable phenomenon of the early bursting of the buds is worthy of notice and comment. Nature is said to be supremely wise, never, or hardly ever, making mistakes. The question to be determined in this interesting case is whether Nature has not erred in assuming that Winter will not come and with icy breath blast all the new leaves in the bud. Experience indeed tells us that the sap which has been wakened into life prematurely will sooner or later rush down to the roots of the trees for the purpose of protecting the principle of life, and that the work which was too optimistically begun will have to be done all over again.

Nature, like her children, men, has her periods of eccentricity; but those keen observers of the ways of Nature, cultivators of the soil, if they understand their business, are never deceived by Nature's eccentricities. They know there are times and seasons for everything. They know that swelling buds on certain trees during a season of the year which is normally Winter, are not infallible harbingers of Spring. They know there is a time of preparation of the soil for the seed, and that if the ground is given its annual vacation it will in due time produce abundantly.

But there is a lesson for us all in the persistency of Nature in its business. The principle of life is mysterious, probably past finding out, but there is no mystery about the activity of life. As soon as Nature has finished one job it begins upon another. The chief business of life is to perpetuate life. On the other hand, one of the chief purposes of man, the highest manifestation of the products of life, seems to be to destroy life as it is manifest in man.

The creative genius of man has produced many useful inventions, which, if humanely applied, would make more tolerable the lives of his own kind and the lives of the lower orders, but which, if prostituted to other purposes, might ultimately exterminate all animal life and blast most vegetable life. The mechanical and the chemical arts appear to be in danger of being prostituted to destructive purposes. Nature is the great creator, and the chief of creation may prove the great destroyer.

The nations of the earth which have been the most powerful for good to all living things are today under a black cloud of dread. They are living in dread of another war with the experience of the Great War still upon their minds. That is why there is so much talk about the necessity of peace. But what is the use of preaching peace to the people of nations who are all in favor of peace and unalterably opposed to war? The British Empire regards the possibility of a war with abhorrence. The United States is opposed to war. The French nation does not want war, but dreams being forced into war. Central Europe is the plague-spot of the world, because the objective of the nations which are governed by dictators is past the comprehension of enlightened statesmen. Human life is held lightly in some countries if it appears to be an obstruction to individual or national ambitions. The situation appears to be that if the constitutionally quarrelsome nations are bound to fight they will fight. The situation for the nations which are constitutionally peaceful is to beware of becoming involved in quarrels which do not concern them, to remain neutral, and let those who will fight fight for speeches and persuasion will never make them peaceful.

HART HOUSE QUARTETTE
Sir,—Dean Inge, in his book "Wit and Wisdom," says "The happy people are those who are producing something."

Most of us will agree that there would be less talk of problems and complexes of youth if there was more sincere study of the arts and more especially music. Fortunately for Victoria we have a goodly number of young people studying music, either piano or "strings," who deserve every possible encouragement and opportunity of hearing visiting artists. This stimulates them and gradually a fine standard of performance is inevitably built up in their minds.

On Monday night, the Hart House Quartette are giving a wonderful concert with the assistance of Mr. John Hopper. This has been made possible by the keen interest and enterprise of Mrs. J. O. Cameron who has done so much for the cause of good music in Victoria.

Reading the Vancouver Province from time to time, I notice that many of the world's best artists visit that city but not Victoria. It is not for the interest and generosity of the Hon. Vincent Massey, of Toronto, in furthering the cultural life of life in Canada, we could not possibly hear the "Hart House String Quartette."

Let us therefore show our appreciation in a tangible manner by attending the concert next Monday, so that this fine quartette of musicians may continue to come to Victoria annually.

A WOMAN CANDIDATE

Sir,—Every interested ratepayer and citizen who pays taxes no doubt is wondering who will be the chosen candidates on December 13 to help administer the business of our city for the next two years. May I say there never was need for greater concern regarding the management of our affairs than right now. We realize it's been hard going for those in office for some time back. The depression did not drop on us overnight and while the City Fathers have not done so badly, still new blood is needed in all governments, let it be municipal or otherwise. The latest news report of the recent municipal elections in England show some eleven women were elected to the mayor's office, three of whom were re-elected. Surely this goes to prove women are welcome in public office, even in so conservative a country as England. Speaking generally for our Canadian women, we measure up pretty well so far as ability, initiative, or just common sense is concerned with any country in the world. Vancouver City thinks much of its women judging from the way it elects them. Some three have been elected to the British Columbia Legislature and always one or more to the School Board, as well as a woman to the Parks Board.

All we ask in lovely Victoria is an even break. It is exceedingly pleasing to note, one of my own sex in the person of Mrs. D. L. McLaurin has announced her candidature for School Trustee. May she win in this, her first election campaign. Judging from the splendid vote cast for me in previous elections I presume women are wanted to serve on municipal boards. However, here is hoping all will kindly remember none of us can live on indefinitely. Bouquets are preferable while we live.

ALICE MCGREGOR,

CENOTAPH SERVICE

Sir,—My attention has been directed to a letter that appeared in your issue of November 6 last in which my name appeared, this having been written by E. R. Ellis, Tucker, of Victoria. In his comments about the difficulty that arose in Vancouver about the Remembrance Day service, Mr. Tucker is rather critical of my attitude upon the matter. Let me observe that a little knowledge is sometimes dangerous. He stated that Archbishop A. U. de Pencier resigned as chairman of the Remembrance Day committee in Vancouver. As His Grace never was chairman of this committee, then my friend, Mr. Tucker, is just a little bit astray of his facts.

Prior to last year a straight religious service was held in Vancouver on November 11, but owing to many complaints from older people and veterans, some of them poorly clad, who were compelled to stand for an extended period in cold and sometimes very wet weather listening to a rather long religious address more suitable for a church than a cenotaph service, the Vancouver committee in their wisdom agreed to eliminate the religious address last year, but we included the prayer. Although everyone was apparently satisfied with the 1933 service, Archbishop de Pencier came along to a sparsely attended meeting of the committee this year and put over a resolution to include the religious address, which he was to give.

After giving the matter further thought the veterans decided to hold another meeting, which was better attended, and owing to the somewhat intolerant spirit exhibited at the conference we finally voted upon a resolution to decide whether to hold a straight religious service or to copy the patriotic service put on in Ottawa on Remembrance Day. By a sixteen to one majority the Ottawa service was decided upon. I believe that the committee's decision to make it possible for people of all denominations to attend the service was more than justified, when you consider that we had over ten thousand people with us at the Vancouver Cenotaph last Sunday. This was the largest crowd that has ever attended this service, and this in spite of the fact that the Ministerial Association of Vancouver voted to commence its service at 10:55 a.m. instead of starting about 11:15 a.m. as had been suggested at an earlier date. The arrangements for cenotaph services are left to local committees, and if I were still resident in Victoria and any one from Vancouver offered criticism I would tell them to mind their own business, therefore I consider it is the business of Vancouver veterans that they do on Remembrance Day, and knowing local conditions, they should be in a better position to judge what is right than people resident eighty miles away.

In a communication published in your columns, Rev. A. B. W. Wood, late of the Canadian Chaplain Service, has very admirably explained why the people of the Catholic faith cannot attend a religious or semi-religious service of non-Catholics. Knowing this regulation of the Catholic Church I voted for a patriotic service, and will do the same again, because I consider that churches have ample opportunity to conduct religious services, without having to depend upon a cenotaph service to advertise their particular brand of religious faith.

I am not an adherent of the Catholic Church.

FRIENDLY WELFARE FUND

Sir,—It is gratifying to learn that the "Friendly Help Campaign Fund" is steadily mounting, and to see, through the reports given, evidence of a fine spirit of generosity and even of sacrifice. The subscription lists, however, will have to be much larger before the total aimed at is achieved. Surely, when one realizes the utter need of many of our fellow citizens, and the insistent demands which will be made upon this fund during the coming year, it is difficult to understand how any who are able to give can refrain from doing so.

Obviously, there are some who are not so indifferent to the needs of the fund. They feel no responsibility to those less fortunate than themselves, and are antagonistic to all schemes of relief. One hears them complaining—"Our taxes are high enough, and it is up to the Government or the city to look after the unemployed and the destitute." The fine art of evading responsibility, of "passing the buck," as it is popularly described, has reached a perfection in our day such as has distinguished no former generation. With politicians, it seems to be regarded as the hallmark of statesmanship. What we will see, if we are honest with ourselves, is that we all have a responsibility, in greater or lesser degree, for the distressful conditions which prevail and a responsibility (without qualification) for their alleviation.

In this Christian land we have allowed our commercial life to be organized upon a basis of ruthless selfishness, and it takes a Government investigation to open our eyes to see how cruel, and iniquitous, that selfishness is. That, however, is apart from the immediate issue. There is no doubt that many people will suffer more acutely than the present official relief schemes almost inevitably entail, if each one of us does not do what he or she can to help this supplementary fund, which is so wisely and carefully administered by the organizations which are making the appeal.

I have no official connection with the fund, or with any of the organizations behind it, but like many other ordinary citizens, am gravely concerned that it succeed, and that the full objective of $43,500 be realized. CHARLES BISHOP,
24 Olympia Avenue, Victoria, B.C.,

FATE OF WHEAT PACT AT STAKE

Contentious Problems to Be Discussed by Experts at Budapest Tuesday

LONDON, Nov. 14 (CP).—The ultimate fate of international efforts to regulate the export of wheat may be at stake when the international wheat advisory committee meets again at Budapest, Hungary, next Tuesday.

Although it is a committee meeting, representatives of all twenty-one signatories to the World Wheat Pact signed in London in August, 1933, are expected to be on hand.

The cardinal questions that will arise comprise the following: Extension of the wheat agreements from July 31, 1935 (when they formally expire) to July 31, 1937.

Provisions for continuation of the efforts to adjust wheat supply to demand and thus dispose of the long-standing surplus.

Readjustments of the principle upon which wheat export quotas for the principal exporters are calculated.

Subdivision of the crop year wheat quotas into quarterly periods, instead of one twelve-month quota as at present.

The creation of a system of quota reserves designed to meet special contingencies, and impart greater flexibility to the working of the wheat agreement.

AFFECT WHOLE AGREEMENT
The proposed changes in the export quota system affect the working of the whole wheat agreement. Hitherto, the world demand for imported wheat and flour has been divided among the chief exporting countries, and their export quotas fixed accordingly.

The Argentine's exports during the first crop year of the pact, ending last July 31, exceeded her quota by nearly 40,000 bushels. She continued heavy shipments as a result of which fixing of quotas for the present crop year was deferred until the meeting next week instead of being settled in August.

It is to meet the possible recurrence of such a contingency, forced by higher production than estimated, that the system of quota reserves is proposed. The world demand for the present crop year ending next July is estimated at 600,000,000 bushels. Basic export quotas will, it is proposed, be again distributed on a pro rata basis.

RESERVE IN QUOTAS
But from the basic quotas, under the new plan, 5 per cent in each case would be set aside as a reserve. These would be utilized to meet the export needs of countries with more than average yields per acre as against countries with under-average yields.

It is hoped furthermore that institution of quarterly instead of annual quotas will tend to make the whole system of regulated exports more workable.

J. V. MacMurray, United States Minister to the Baltic States, will preside over the Budapest conference. The Argentine and Russia are among the committee members invited. But in addition to the committee, invitations have also been sent to Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Greece, Poland and Sweden, not normally represented on the committee.

It is not thought anything concrete will be done about the export minimum price plan considered and drafted by the committee at Rome last April. This fell to the ground largely by reason of opposition from Argentina.

FATHER-IN-LAW TO PAY DAMAGES

Mainland Bridgroom Wins $500 for Loss of Bride on Night of Wedding

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14 (CP).—Elmer Andrews, whose bride was virtually taken from his arms on their wedding night, has been awarded $500 damages against his father-in-law, Owen Farrington, by Chief Justice Aulay Morrison in Supreme Court here, for alienation of his wife's affections.

After giving the bride away and staging a wedding party in his home on May 20, 1933, Farrington, A. Peden, the remains were laid the son-in-law alleged, followed the newlyweds to their home and insisted on his daughter returning with him. Andrews claimed he objected, whereupon a fight ensued and Farrington allegedly knocked him down and took his daughter away. Andrews stated he took his wife away to Agassiz, B.C., where he is employed, a few days later; but she soon left him for her parents and refused to return.

MANY AT SERVICE

A large number of sorrowing friends attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Adele Danby held yesterday afternoon. Rev. Canon A. de L. Nunns officiating. The hymn sung was "Abide With Me." The casket and hearse were banked with beautiful floral offerings. The following acted as pallbearers, M. J. Danby, W. E. Danby, H. B. Sar-gison, G. A. Okell, T. F. C. Salt and A. Peden. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Roosevelt Plans Employment and Health Benefits

President Outlines Proposals to Stimulate Recovery in U.S.—Would Enlist Co-operation of States and Provide Funds Through Contributions—Details Being Studied

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP).—The broad outlines of a plan designed to make life more secure for the individual and thereby stimulate recovery, were sketched today by President Roosevelt and turned over to a group of experts for fashioning into blue print form.

NEW COURSE SUGGESTED

Dr. Wiggins Asks School Board to Support Instruction in Motherhood

Support of the Victoria School Board to a proposal to have included on the curriculum of the Provincial Department of Education instruction for girls on the care and training of infants and children, was sought by Dr. R. H. Wiggins at last night's meeting. Dr. Wiggins has interested himself in this matter, and for the past three years has been endeavoring to secure the support of various public bodies.

There was nothing on the school curriculum to train young girls for motherhood, yet most women were mothers from the age of twenty years, Dr. Wiggins informed the board.

He proposed a course of ten lectures in each of five grades, grades eight, nine, eleven and twelve. In grade eight the care of infants in the first year could be taught. In grade nine the care of pre-school children could be explained, while in grade ten the training of pre-school children could be studied. In grade eleven pre-natal care would be taught, while grade twelve would be given a course of four courses.

HIGH MORTALITY
As a result of today's prevailing ignorance on these matters, there was too high infant and maternal mortality and morbidity rates, and also too many mentally retarded, poorly trained and physically defective and deficient children.

Instruction in pre-natal care and the care and training of infants and children, given at an appropriate age in the only institution where the Province can command attendance, is the only remedy, Dr. Wiggins declared. Instruction in motherhood is now a regular course in New Zealand schools and partially in English schools, he informed the board.

As a direct result of this education, there had been a lowered mortality and morbidity of infants and mothers, fewer mentally retarded, poorly trained and physically defective children, and, therefore, increased efficiency, happiness and success of the citizenry, the doctor stated.

After hearing Dr. Wiggins, the school board went into committee to give the matter consideration, among other matters brought up by other delegations.

The immediate objectives of the programme the President has decided upon were:
Unemployment insurance of a co-operative Federal-State form; the funds to be held and invested by the Federal Government; the benefits to be administered by the states.

STATE REGULATIONS

Enactment of state laws to carry out such a programme.
An effort to bring the persons now on relief rolls back into productive employment and thereby put them under the insurance system.

For a long range standpoint, he proposed:
A uniform system to provide security for the aged.
A method, perhaps through insurance, for providing against the economic loss due to sickness.

BY CONTRIBUTIONS
Mr. Roosevelt declared his unemployment insurance plan "must be financed by contributions, not taxes." He did not expand this idea, but many of his hearers interpreted his words to mean that those benefiting would be expected to contribute to the necessary funds. Under this meaning both employer and employee would join in advancing the money.

In a brief talk, the President outlined these objectives to his committee on economic security and its newly created advisory council. He turned over to them the job of shaping into a weapon for a "bold stroke" toward economic security the hundreds of proposals that had been presented during an all-day session.

Harry Hopkins, Federal relief administrator, outlined the broad scope of the programme in a luncheon speech.

"It is ridiculous to say that out of our national income we cannot find the money to take care of those who need it," he said.

OTHER PROPOSALS

The proposal by Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York of a long range programme of unemployment insurance, public works and direct relief.

Broad general debate of the widely varying phases of unemployment insurance problems.

Discussion of re-employment possibilities, with a recommendation by John Carmody, of the national mediation board, that a $1,000,000, 000 Federal corporation be set up to build new railroad equipment.

"Now, look here, Dorothy," said her father sternly, "your mother tells me you've been naughty all day long. The next time you throw mud at your sister's clean dress you'll go to bed without supper."

"The next time I throw mud at Doris," said the child, "I'll wait till after supper."

Sales Manager to Attend Meeting

BEN GROSSMAN

SALES manager for Jameson Motors, Ltd., left last night for Eastern Canada, where he will represent his firm at a big meeting of Hudson-Terraplane dealers, distributors and manufacturers, which is scheduled to take place at the Prince Edward Hotel, Windsor, Ontario, November 20 and 21. While there, Mr. Grossman will attend a pre-view of the new 1935 Hudson and Terraplane models. From Windsor he will proceed to Walkerville, Ont., and will visit the Studebaker factory, for which car Jameson Motors, Ltd., are Island distributors. From Walkerville he will cross into the United States, visiting the Hudson-Terraplane factories at Detroit and the Studebaker plant at South Bend. Mr. Grossman expects to return to Victoria on December 5. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Grossman.

FLOWERS SENT IN ICE BLOCKS

President of General Motors Receives Unique Greeting From Australia

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14.—Enclosed in 250-pound blocks of ice, a shipment of flowers, which reached Vancouver, November 2, on the Canadian-Australasian liner Aorangi, was rushed by Canadian Pacific Express to R. S. McLaughlin, president of General Motors of Canada and director of the Canadian Pacific Railway, at Oshawa, Ont., arriving in perfect condition.

Unique in the experience of local Canadian Pacific Express officials, the shipment was the gift of General Motors officials in Australia to their president in Canada.

Frozen solid into huge blocks of ice, which in turn were enclosed in packing cases, the flowers made the 10,600-mile trip from Sydney to Oshawa in perfect condition, but not without considerable ingenuity on the part of local express officials, who took the cases from the Aorangi's refrigerators at the last possible moment before train time, packing them tight with sawdust to keep the ice intact during the train ride—necessarily without refrigeration.

Handling the shipment developed a few new "wrinkles" in the express business where men learn something new every day.

ESTATE SUES R. O. SWEZEY

Fees for Professional Services Rendered by Late Clifford Sifton Sought

MONTREAL, Nov. 14 (CP).—Fees for professional services said to have been rendered by the late Winfield Clifford Sifton, Toronto lawyer, in connection with the Beauharnois power development scheme were claimed from Robert O. Swezey in an action before Mr. Justice C. G. MacKinnon in the Superior Court, today. The claim, presented by the executors of the late Mr. Sifton, amounts with interest to $53,972.

In September and October, 1927, Mr. Sifton's executors declared the late Winfield Sifton was retained by Swezey to assist in certain plans for a proposed hydro power development by means of a canal between Lake St. Francis and Lake St. Louis.

In return for his services the late Mr. Sifton was to receive a retainer of $5,000 and $50,000 when the plans would finally be adopted by the Dominion Government, the executors claimed. At the time of his death Mr. Sifton had fulfilled his part of the agreement and the plans for the Beauharnois Canal were approved by orders-in-council at Ottawa, it was contended. In one occasion, after a demand for payment had been made on Swezey, he requested a delay of six months and the delay was granted when he gave a written acknowledgment of the indebtedness, the executors stated.

NO PERSONAL LIABILITY

In his statement of defense, Swezey stated at no time did he assume personal liability for the payment of the professional services of the late Winfield Sifton. Throughout the entire negotiations with the lawyer, he added, it was understood he was acting as a representative and as one of the managers of the Beauharnois syndicate.

Orders-in-council, referred to by the plaintiffs as improving the power development scheme were admitted by Swezey, but he added these orders-in-council were subsequently cancelled. In any event, he claimed, Mr. Sifton was dead for a considerable time before the plan was approved and the approval therefore could not be considered as being due to his efforts.

SEEKS PROTECTION

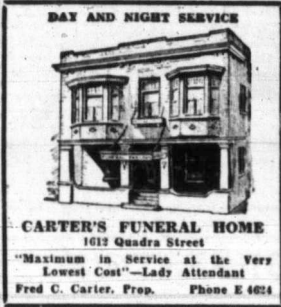

In a second action, which is joined to the first, Swezey is joined by the Beauharnois Power Corporation, Limited, denies it assumed the obligations of the syndicate towards the lawyer. At the time Swezey wrote the letter in which he acknowledged the indebtedness towards Mr. Sifton, he was no longer connected with the Beauharnois enterprises, having resigned more than six months previously, the corporation claims.

MESSIAH BEING REHEARSED NOW

Handel's Great Oratorio Will Be Given at First United Church on December 4

A most successful rehearsal was held of the combined First United Church and Orpheus Choirs in the schoolroom of the First United Church, on Tuesday night. Special attention was given to the second part of Handel's "Messiah" and under direction of W. C. Fyfe, with Alfred Gurney at the piano, some very fine work was accomplished. The chorus now numbers over 120 voices, and the performance will take place in the First United Church on Tuesday, December 4.

The tickets are now on sale and may be had from members of the chorus. Those desiring tickets are advised to secure them early and avoid disappointment.

VANCOUVER VOCALISTS

Music lovers will be interested to know that some of the finest vocalists in Vancouver will take the solos in this work. Mrs. F. K. Hodgson will be the contralto; Leonard Hayman the tenor, and John E. Pacey the bass. Mr. Pacey was heard in the solos when the "Messiah" was rendered in the First United Church in 1920, and his many friends will welcome this opportunity of hearing him again. Mrs. W. H. Wilson, of Victoria, will be soprano soloist.

The organ accompaniments will be in the capable hands of F. J. Chubb, Mus. Bac, F.R.C.O., organist of Christ Church Cathedral, Vancouver. Mr. Chubb needs no introduction to a Victoria audience. Although he has given recitals in this city on previous occasions, this will be the first time he has accompanied an oratorio.

MRS. J. R. WARD IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Resident of Victoria Since 1906 Is Called to Rest—Funeral Rites Tomorrow

Mrs. Martha Ellen Ward, aged sixty-three years, passed away Tuesday at the Royal Jubilee Hospital. Mrs. Ward was born in Ontario and had resided in Victoria since 1906.

She is survived by her husband, Jesse R. Ward, at home, 1520 Amelia Street; four daughters, Mrs. W. Hayman, Courtenay; Mrs. A. Dickie, Vancouver; Mrs. Ralph English, Seattle; and Mrs. Lottie McInnis, Victoria; two sons, C. P. Stephens, Vancouver, and John Stephens, Work Point Barracks, Esquimalt; nine grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The remains are resting at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, where services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Public Liability Protection for Schools Advised

The Victoria School Board, last night, was asked by a delegation of insurance men to consider the advisability of taking out public liability insurance on all its schools. An argument advanced was that in Vancouver the following amounts were paid out to parents as a result of injuries sustained by students while at school: In 1931, $748; 1932, $1,335; 1933, $198; 1934, up to August 1, $1,664, with probably another $2,500 added for a more recent accident in which eight children were injured. Public liability insurance for schools was compulsory in the Province of Alberta, the delegation stated. Rates were quoted to the school board, which will defer consideration until January, when the budget is being prepared.

PRODUCE MARKET

Following is the market letter issued yesterday by the Provincial Department of Agriculture:

AT EDMONTON

Apples have been very quiet throughout the week. Apples are moving fairly well, but the trade is complaining of conditions generally. Cars are still moving to country points—practically all are loose apples in unboxed boxes, and crates. British Columbia tomatoes are becoming more scarce. A few small lots have come from Calgary and Medicine Hat greenhouses, but recent arrivals of California field tomatoes are supplying the trade. Prices are comparatively low for the season. Hot-house tomatoes, No. 1, are selling at $2.40 to $2.50 per crate. Supplies of local cabbage, carrots, beets, turnips, parsnips and potatoes are ample for all local needs. Cauliflower is coming from British Columbia and is selling well. Celery is moving well, but at comparatively low prices—from $3 to $4 per crate. One car of California lettuce has been received on this market. These are selling, No. 1, at $1.30 to $1.40 per cwt. British Columbia onions, No. 1, at $1.40 to $1.50, and ungraded at $1.30 to $1.40 per cwt. The last shipments of British Columbia head lettuce were of rather inferior quality. A car of California lettuce arrived in during the week. The potato market is very quiet. Car lot movement has practically ceased, but some are moving by truck.

AT CALGARY

The weather continues clear and mild. Wholesalers would welcome cold weather with snow—claiming that it would stimulate business. There is nothing new on the local market. What few apples are selling are mostly bulk of the McIntosh and Jonathan varieties. With the exception of Red and Golden Delicious, the sale of wrapped stock is practically nil. The first Navel oranges of the season arrived during the week. Vegetables are in plentiful supply and at low prices. No change in the potato situation. Two cars of Nettle Gems from the Windermere district show good quality. Fruit and vegetable quotations show little change from last week. Car arrivals November 3 to 10, in Calgary: 3 potatoes, British Columbia, 4 apples, 6 mixed, 1 vegetables, 1 onions, imported, 3 grapes, 1 lettuce, 1 citrus.

APPEAL COURT UPSETS AWARD

Decision Unanimous Against Shareholders in Gibson
Mining Co., Ltd.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14 (CP)—Judgment of Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald, awarding a three-quarter interest in a silver-lead and zinc mine, near Kaslo, British Columbia, once reputed worth $1,000,000, to shareholders of the Gibson Mining Company, Ltd., was set aside today by unanimous decision of the British Columbia Court of Appeal.

The shareholders, led by Mrs. Minnie May, of Vancouver, wife of D. K. May, of Thompson Falls, Montana, have fought for possession of the mine for fifteen years in the courts of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia.

Mr. Justice McDonald's judgment, delivered in Supreme Court here on May 30, set aside a prior judgment of Mr. Justice Denis Murphy on the grounds it had been obtained on perjured evidence of Joseph C. Roberts, retired broker of Portland, Oregon.

Mr. Justice Murphy's judgment, rendered on April 2, 1932, dismissed an action instigated by Mrs. May to recover the mine from the Daybreak Mining Company, Ltd., his Lordship then stated the plaintiffs had stood by more than four years with full knowledge that Roberts had transferred the property to the Daybreak Company and allowed it to expend $200,000 in development, which funds were contributed to by innocent shareholders.

In the light of new evidence, Mr. Justice McDonald decided there were no innocent shareholders; and he termed Roberts' conduct "nauseating and fraudulent."

Roberts and D. P. Kane, of Kaslo, trustee in bankruptcy of the Daybreak Company, appealed from Mr. Justice McDonald's judgment.

A GALLANT FIGHT

"I have come to the conclusion with a good deal of regret," commented Chief Justice J. A. McDonald, "that the respondents made a gallant fight against what they believed to be fraud, conspiracy and perjury on the part of Roberts and his associates. The courts, both in this country and in foreign countries, have found such fraud; but that fraud is not applicable to the present case."

He allowed the appeal on a point of law. The action was not well founded in his opinion, because the Gibson company had been wound up and there was nobody to bring the action for it.

Mr. Justice A. E. McPhillips would not concede that Roberts had given perjured evidence. Mr. Justice W. G. McQuarrie also held this view. Mr. Justice Archer Martin and Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald agreed that the appeal should be allowed.

In the case heard by Mr. Justice Murphy, the trial judge agreed with an Oregon court that Roberts had been a party to a conspiracy to deprive the Gibson Mining Company of its property.

TO STAND TRIAL FOR KIDNAPPING

David Meisner Committed in London, Ontario, Court—Labatt Gives Evidence

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 14 (CP)—David Meisner, former Cincinnati bookmaker, fraud and weak-eyed, was committed today to stand trial on a charge of having taken part in the kidnapping last August of John S. Labatt, wealthy London brewer.

Magistrate C. W. Hawkshaw committed Meisner for trial at the next Middlesex or Lambeth County Assizes, after hearing Labatt spend more than two hours in his first public recital of his story of the kidnapping. The brewer pointed an accusing finger at Meisner as he stood in the prisoner's dock and declared he was one of the kidnapers.

Quebec Beavers In Hockey Win

Widow of Capt. Wanderwell Claims
Some Wonderful Adventures
Since Yacht Mystery

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (CP).—Aloha Baker, a wanderer's widow, went about New York today in riding breeches and gay military tunic. A manuscript of a world travel book in her brief case was the reason for the visit.

Aloha is the Western Canadian girl who flashed into the public prints when Captain Walter Wanderwell, her husband and fellow soldier-of-fortune, was slain aboard a yacht at Long Beach, Cal., two years ago. The murder remains a mystery.

She left her home, then in Victoria, B.C., when she was about fourteen, to join a world-travel caravan in charge of the late Capt. Wanderwell. Aloha has had few dull moments since. But the lissom, fair-haired girl of twenty-six is casual about her varied life.

"Oh, I've been captured by Chinese bandits, who wanted to kill me, but I escaped. Then there was the time for crocodile attacked me—nothing much to that either. Natives frightened him off with a rifle."

She yawned as she made those remarks.

At sixteen, she said, she dropped off her hair and enlisted with the Spanish in the Rif war. However, she was found out aboard a transport heading for Morocco. Also, she claims to have lived nine months with "a Stone Age tribe" after her aeroplane was forced down in the Brazilian jungle.

The former Mrs. Wanderwell is married just now to a wealthy Wyoming man, Walter Baker. He's an old stay-at-home, she says, but in fact, he's financing her next trip. She plans to fly around the world next January in a tiny folding-wing plane, with a yet-to-be-hired navigator.

The book she hopes to have published is entitled, "This World of Mine."

SAVES MONEY BY QUICK JUDGMENT

Vancouver Man Attacks Bandit
When Noticing His Pistol Was
Toy—Thug Captured

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14 (CP).—Quick judgment on the part of D. Machida, service station proprietor, saved him money today and resulted in the arrest of William Lanehart on a charge of robbery with violence. Machida and his wife were alone in the service station when a man walked into the premises, whipped out a pistol and ordered them to put up their hands. They obeyed but, as the man approached the cash register, Machida noticed something suspicious about the gun.

In a flash he jumped at the man, fished and fect to the street. Machida overtook him and held Lanehart prisoner until police arrived. Investigation showed that the pistol was a toy.

Paul Dean Now Deputy Sheriff

FORT SMITH, Ark., Nov. 14 (AP).—Paul "Duffy" Dean was a deputy sheriff today and sported a brand new, shiny badge to show for it. Visiting here, the younger half of the Dean brothers pitching partnership, was commissioned a deputy by Sheriff John B. Williams, of Sebastian County.

Delightful Reception Held by Conservatives

Women's Organization Arranges Bridge Party and Tea at "Mount Adelaide"—Large Number of Guests Welcomed by Committee

The silver tea and bridge party held yesterday afternoon at "Mount Adelaide," the home of Mrs. J. S. H. Matson, by the Victoria Women's Conservative Association, was the most successful social affair ever arranged by that organization.

Mrs. Robert D. Harvey was the general convener and she had the able assistance of a large number of the association members. During the afternoon a large number of guests were welcomed by the president, Mrs. K. Palmer, who was assisted by Mrs. Hugh Allan, wife of the president of the Victoria Conservative Association, and Mrs. Harvey. The spacious hall was arranged with masses of potted chrysanthemums, while Autumn leaves and great bowls of cut flowers added to the charming appearance of the library and other rooms.

Tea was served in the dining-room, under the convener's supervision. Mrs. W. G. M. Rolston, assisted by Mrs. Edgar, Mrs. Sinclair, Mrs. Chamberlain and Miss Mary Mitchell, while the following assisted in serving: Miss Daphne Pooley, Miss Louise Maynard, Miss Barbara Twigg, Miss Doreen Petherbridge, Miss Lucy Bryden and Miss Ruth Farr.

The tea table was most beautifully arranged with a mahogany colored linen cloth, in the centre of which was arranged a particularly effective centerpiece, holding many varieties of fruits and colored leaves, while branching vases contained sprays of white snowberries and bronze chrysanthemums. The table decorations, which was so much admired, were the handiwork of Mrs. E. V. Finland. Fortunes were told by Mrs. Porteous and Mrs. Scott.

During the afternoon a delightful musical programme, which had been arranged by Mrs. S. R. Bowden, was given in the drawing-room. Mrs. J. Shanks and Miss Mona Morgan contributed several beautiful vocal solos; Mr. Jack Pullen played violin joyfully, with Mrs. Hall as his accompanist, and Miss Julia Kent-Jones delighted the guests with her recitations. Mrs. Clarence Deaville played piano solos very charmingly and also acted as an able accompanist for the vocalists.

Mrs. H. T. Goodland was convener.

of the bridge, which was played in the library and sunroom, the prizes, which were donated by Mrs. G. H. Barnard and Mrs. R. F. Green, being won by: First, Miss M. Penwill, and second, Mrs. Dickson.

Among the players were Mrs. E. T. W. Pearce, Mrs. Grogan, Mrs. E. Young, Mrs. Maclean, Mrs. Chandler, Mrs. Dickson, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Nolan, Mrs. C. M. C. Fleming, Mrs. G. Dean, Mrs. M. V. MOUNT DOUGLAS

The third annual meeting of the Mount Douglas High School Parent-Teacher Association was held in the school auditorium on Tuesday. The report of the carnival and contest, showing the net proceeds to be $100. All those who in any way contributed towards the success of the evening were sincerely thanked and a special vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. Mercer, the convener, and her committee.

A review of the year's work showed that the association had done a great deal towards putting the school grounds in shape and providing athletic equipment for the students. In this connection a letter of appreciation was sent to the school board for their courtesy during the year. Before the election of officers, the honorary president, Mr. Bailey, paid a tribute to the efforts of the retiring president, Mr. Mercer, and his executive.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mr. R. Mercer, re-elected by acclamation; honorary president, Mr. A. Bailey; vice-president, Mr. Liscum; secretary-treasurer, Miss N. Lynn; executive committee, Mrs. Barraclough, Mrs. Mercer, Mrs. Hincks, Mrs. Simmonds, Mrs. Ostler, Mr. Sedgman; social convener, Mrs. Dawson; publicity agent, Mr. Ayton; grounds committee, Mr. Bailey, Mr. Liscum, Mr. Aldous, Mr. Lambrick.

The grounds committee was authorized to spend up to $100 on the improvement of the grounds and $25 was voted for athletic equipment for the school.

For the December meeting an attempt will be made to secure the president of the Provincial Parent-Teachers' Federation to address the members.

MOUNT NEWTON

The Mount Newton Association will hold its annual dance and bridge party at the Mount Newton High School tomorrow evening. A popular orchestra will supply the dance music from 9 o'clock to 1 a.m. The bridge game will commence at 8:30 o'clock. Good prizes will be given for bridge and a number of prizes will be distributed.

Pass.
You have shown both your majors to your partner and he has refused to show a preference. Neither of your suits are strong enough to continue, and your hand, with a singleton in your partner's suit and only a single stopper in clubs, is unsuited to no trump. Any further bid you make runs a serious risk of getting you into a lot of trouble.

Married for Fifty Years

—Photographs by Sevanian.

Congratulations upon attaining the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding were showered upon Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Paterson, of 1010 Craigdarroch Road, on Tuesday, by their many Victoria friends, and messages of good wishes were received from the Mainland. Mr. and Mrs. Paterson were married in Brandon, Manitoba, by the late Rev. A. H. Cameron on November 13, 1884. Mr. Paterson has been connected with the telephone business for forty-seven years, first with the Bell Telephone Company, and since 1915 with the British Columbia Telephone Company. He is a member of the Telephone Pioneers of America.

Appreciation Tea Is Given By Auxiliary

Mrs. Duncan MacBride, 661 Newport Avenue, lent her home yesterday afternoon for an "Appreciation tea" given by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian Association to those who acted as hostesses and poured tea at the annual guest tea of the auxiliary held at the Y.M.C.A. last week.

Guests were received by Mrs. MacBride and the auxiliary president, Mrs. Donald MacAdie, and presiding in turn at the tea-table, which was decked with Autumn flowers and lighted by candles, were Mrs. Angus McKeown, Mrs. Edwin Tomlin, Mrs. C. Erwood Watkins and Mrs. F. Richardson. A much-enjoyed programme of vocal numbers was given by Mrs. Archie Willis, who accompanied at the piano by Mrs. John Gough, sang very beautifully "In Sunny Spain" (Schleissarth), and "I Love You" (Sobeski). Before the guests left, Mrs. MacAdie on behalf of the committee warmly thanked Mrs. MacBride, who in the course of the afternoon was presented with a corsage bouquet.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

ESQUIMALT

The Esquimalt Institute met on Tuesday evening in St. Paul's Parish Hall. The sum of $10 was voted for the X-ray fund for the Solarium. A shower of gifts for the Solarium will be held at the next meeting. It was decided to hold a poultry drive on December 19. The monthly card party will be held in the Parish Hall, tonight, at 8 o'clock. A wreath was placed on the Esquimalt memorial on Remembrance Day. Delegates from the recent W.I. conference gave reports and the convener of industries also gave a report. Mrs. T. Bradley reported on the card party held recently in the Parish Hall, and of the supper and card party held at the home of Mrs. Kelly. It was announced that the bed-spread was won by Mr. W. Scott. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mesdames G. Wise, J. Kennedy, J. Norman and T. Bradley.

First United Church Y.P.D. Entertaining

Following the usual custom, the executive committee of the Young People's Department of the First United Church has decided to hold another Christmas festival. The event will take place in the auditorium of the church on December 17, when a programme of unusual interest will be presented.

Several interesting features will be included in the programme. The recently formed Young Ladies' Choir will make its first public appearance since being organized and will sing a number of carols. The C.G.I.T. choir will also assist.

Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Mrs. C. M. Goodwin, Jr., Miss Marion Mitchell, Joan Hayes, Miss K. Irvine, Messrs. James Petrie and W. Irvine, all well known local artists, have kindly consented to take part. Appropriate Christmas organ numbers and piano duets will be interspersed with the vocal numbers.

The proceeds of the collection will be devoted to the missionary fund.

Large Amount Is Realized For Hospital

The gratifying sum of approximately $903.35 was made at the annual bazaar of St. Joseph's Hospital Senior W.A., held in the Nurses' Home, yesterday morning and afternoon, under the convenship of the president, Mrs. Frank Sehl.

The stalls were attractively arranged and displayed many dainty gifts for Christmas, besides many lovely knitted clothes for children. There was a stall of dolls dressed as nurses. The candy stall did a thriving business and was most attractive. There were many contests and a grab bag for the children.

WIN PRIZES
The prizes for the contests were won as follows: Art, frame, Mrs. David Spencer; doll, Miss Mildred

Minette; $5 scrip from Spencers, Mrs. E. H. M. Foot; cooked dinner, Sister Superior of St. Ann's Academy; ham, Mrs. Layritz; standing lamp, Mrs. Dickinson; of Johnson Street; Christmas cakes, large, Mrs. Kingsley, of Shawmigan Lake; medium, Miss Stewart, of Burdett Avenue; and small, Mrs. B. J. Melor; afghan, Miss Ellen Cameron; $10 scrip from Hudson's Bay, Mrs. Ryan, of Government Street; recipe books, Mrs. E. Social and Personal Notes

Miscellaneous Shower

Mrs. A. Corry and Miss Iris Couch were joint hostesses recently at the home of Mrs. Corry, 3109 Glasgow Avenue, for a delightful miscellaneous shower given in honor of Miss Sybil Manning, whose wedding will take place this month. On arriving, Miss Manning was presented with a beautiful bouquet of autumn flowers by Baby Joan Simmons, and also many lovely gifts, which were concealed in a prettily-decorated box, the color scheme being pale yellow. Music and singing were enjoyed during the evening and later a buffet supper was served. The guests included Mesdames A. Kennedy, B. Newman, A. Couch, W. Holmes, W. Harrison, A. Sargent, G. Eaton, R. Sage, C. Simmonds, M. Trevor, P. Michelin, J. Johnston, M. McDonald, G. Robertson, H. Coates, Misses E. Samway, A. Kennedy, L. Burke, G. Norsworthy, R. Webber, I. Holmes, B. Minnis, I. Webber, V. Holmes, M. Minnis, E. Holmes, J. Murray, J. Gibson, T. Wormleighton, T. McPhail, I. Crowther, E. Davis, I. Couch, M. Ralph, P. Gibson, E. Newburn, E. Bent, R. Coates, R. Bardsley, M. Watt, A. Sawyer, E. Coates, H. Abbott, M. Moser, K. Moore, E. Luoto, J. Hughes and Baby Joan Simmons.

Miscellaneous Shower

Mrs. C. A. Goodwin and Mrs. William Wright entertained, yesterday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. A. M. Perry, Fernwood Road, with a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Ina Easton. The gifts were presented to the bride-to-be in a prettily decorated basket. The table was attractively arranged with tall yellow tapers and gold chrysanthemums, and presiding at the tea urn was Mrs. P. G. Watson. The guests were: Mesdames R. Wilson, M. Young, Nelson Hicks, N. Camus, W. B. Crowther, W. H. Wilson, H. B. Sargison, James Travis, S. Shaw, G. E. Norris, L. A. Baker, G. S. McMorran, H. Erith, Misses Eva Dann, Joan McKechnie, G. McKay, Agnes Petticrew, Marion Mitchell, Ethel Mercer, Margaret Freeman, Ellen Petticrew, Olive Campbell, Elsie Robinson, Doris Erith and Lillian Robinson.

Kitchen Shower

A kitchen shower was held on Monday night by the "Bapco Girls" at the home of Kay White, Grant Street, in honor of Mrs. J. J. Moffit, formerly Miss Doreen Cook. The gifts were concealed in a flower-decked canoe, which stood on a pedestal in the centre of the room. Decorations of white and several shades of rose were used throughout. Mrs. Moffit was the recipient of many useful gifts. Among those present were Misses Pearl Matthews, Florence McKinnon, Alice Muriel, Dorothy Vye, Jean McNaught, Charlotte Burrows, Winnie Abbott, Dorothy Harkness, Mrs. J. Tindall, Charlotte Ashorn, Enid Mellor, Laura Tebo, Hazel Fenerty, Mrs. George Edwards, Mrs. William Harkness and Mrs. J. Tindall.

Children's Party

Mrs. M. H. Barry, 3109 Glasgow Avenue, entertained at a delightful children's party on Monday afternoon, for her two children, Elaine, who was six years old, and Maurice, who was seven. The table was prettily decorated in pink and white, and balloons hung from the chandelier. Assisting in serving were Mrs. H. Shandley, Mrs. L. McKay and Mrs. A. H. Barry. The guests included: Gloria McKay, Cynthia Graham, Nedra Mitchell, Leona Bennett, Gladys Riches, Myrtle Carter, Betty Gurney, Sylvia Day, Wesley McKay, Eric Goodwin, Bruce Bennett, Bobby Bennett, Robert Shandley, Lorne Shandley, Gordon Copp and Victor Copp. Little Nedra Mitchell entertained the guests with singing and tap dancing.

Surprise Shower

An enjoyable evening was spent on Monday, when the girls of the Hudson's Bay Company office held a surprise shower in honor of Miss Annie McKenzie, a bride-to-be, at the home of her parents, Shelbourne Street. The bride-to-be was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts. The self-invited guests included the Misses N. Bradshaw, I. McAdams, W. Bleasdale, V. Owendon, T. Walker, A. Parkinson, N. Dean, L. Butterfield, P. Williams, A. Davies, K. Freestone, L. Robinson, P. Love, L. Restall, D. Borrowman, M. Johnston, A. McKay, M. Syme, A. Borde, L. McKenzie and Mrs. J. Longfield, Mrs. S. Sheraton, Mrs. A. Stafford, Mrs. J. McCreadie and Mrs. A. Ball.

Dinner Party

In honor of her sister, Mrs. M. Kinley, who is celebrating her birthday today, and Mrs. J. D. Pierce, of Redwood, California, Mrs. P. A. Hole entertained at her home, 124 Moss Street, last night at a dinner party. Covers were laid for ten, the table being artistically centred with a cut glass bowl filled with pink chrysanthemums with tall lighted pink tapers in silver sconces on either side. Assisting the hostess was her mother, Mrs. J. McCreadie. Following dinner, bridge was played. Other guests were Mrs. Jack Trace, Mrs. G. H. Sedger, Mrs. G. R. Fleming, Mrs. C. H. Cross, Mrs. H. Brennan and Mrs. A. Hourston.

"THE CHILD"

By REGINALD H. WIGGINS, M.D.
C.M., L.M.C.C.

Obedience

Military obedience. No, decidedly no. In military life our aims are entirely different from the obedience to expect in childhood. With the child we desire the moral education of the child. In army life we have to have immediate and implicit obedience, as the failure of one man to carry out orders might endanger the lives of many others.

In infancy and young childhood, training to obey will be accomplished by suggestion, more than anything else: through the suggestion of the parents. When they are obedient to the commands and suggestions higher than their own case, and to a reasonable code of good manners, consideration and truth. Then, and only then, will the child learn to give ready obedience to the highest promptings within, and when he reaches maturity he will be better prepared to let his life be guided by his inborn conscience.

It is really simple—to gain the child's co-operation or to get him to obey. Simply exercise our own good manners and put ourselves in his place. And when we are doing this, to appreciate his lack of experience and background in his life to supply incentive to right behavior. God forbid that we be accused that our own convenience dictated our attitude rather than our true belief that the child's welfare demanded it.

REVERSIONS MINIMIZED

More Purchases Made at City Tax Sale—Nearly 300 Properties Redeemed

Thirty-seven parcels of tax delinquent properties have been sold by the city at the annual tax sale at a total upset price of $12,684, which is a gain over the figures for the same period last year, it was announced by treasury department officials yesterday.

During the same period last year, thirty parcels were sold for $11,500. The tax sale will continue almost to the end of this month, so that every opportunity will be provided for delinquent property holders to redeem their properties before they are put up for auction.

Another most gratifying feature of this year's tax sale is that the original list of delinquent properties totalled approximately 750 parcels, but this number was reduced to between 400 and 450 pieces of property before the tax sale began, when owners made every effort to redeem their holdings.

Judging from the manner in which property holders are endeavoring to save their investments, a much greater proportion of property should be redeemed this year compared with 1933.

Normandie to Have Elaborate System for Feeding Her Passengers

ST. NAZAIRE, France, Nov. 14 (CP).—When the giant liner Normandie, French bid for supremacy of the seas, sets forth on her maiden voyage to the United States, she will set a new record as a floating restaurant at least.

The Normandie will carry the most elaborate arrangements any ship ever had for feeding her passengers.

Here is an idea of what foodstuffs will be aboard the Normandie every time she sets out on a crossing:

chickens, 32,000 pounds of meat, 6,950 bottles of wine, 2,600 bottles of spirits and 16,000 quarts of beer. More than 14,000 forks, 12,500 knives and 15,000 spoons will help out.

There will be three ship physicians, nine barbers and hairdressers, sixteen musicians, 187 cooks, six stewards and 628 stewards.

In addition to the captain and two first officers, nine officers will march the bridge.

What Today Means

"SCORPIO"

If November 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 to 11 a.m., from 1 to 3 p.m. and from 6 to 8 p.m. The danger periods are from 7 to 9 a.m., from 3 to 5 p.m. and from 8 to 10 p.m.

If you allow anger or resentment to dominate your thoughts on this November 15, its retroactive result may be only harmful to yourself. It will be advantageous to clear your mind of any conception of fancied wrongs. High pressure methods in business transactions are likely to only produce unfavorable results, so they should not be resorted to. Financial matters may seem involved, but simple solutions are to be expected if they are handled with frankness and without attempted subterfuge. Invitations of a social nature should be extended only to those who will have no reason to feel that there is an ulterior motive prompting your action, otherwise they are liable to be regarded as a form of bribery and resentment. Married and engaged couples, as well as those seriously considering matrimony, will possibly avoid some sarcastic comments if they refrain from being late if there has been a definite time set for their arrival.

If a woman and November 15 is your birthday, your cheerful disposition before the day is over should become replete with a feeling of exuberance. You are due to have some very delightful surprises. Conditions very favorable to your future social or business advancement will possibly become known to you shortly. Be careful not to antagonize a casual acquaintance, as later on the lady or gentleman might be in a position of being very helpful. There is danger that a repeated confidential statement is liable to cause trouble, so remember discretion always pays. You will display wisdom by not always indulging your love for luxuries in things your practical sense warns against. Some of the commercial lines of activity in which you should do well are stenography, bookkeeping, secretarial work and selling. If artistically inclined, music, interior decorating or acting might prove lucrative.

The child born on November 15, as a rule when it passes minority, displays a mental superiority that will attract attention and usually lands it in a distinctly advantageous position to start its professional or business career right.

If a man and November 15 is your natal day, your optimistic spirit should carry you over the rough spots of life to the pinnacle of success. The pulpit, stage, lecture platform or political arena may offer the big chance for the results you desire.

Handicrafts Exhibited by City Temple

Showing what could be done in the way of handicrafts by a small group of members of the Victoria City Temple, an exhibition of arts and crafts was held in the social hall of the church yesterday afternoon and evening. The affair, which was most interesting and showed artistic work, was arranged by Mrs. Maud Hammond, who also had a very fine display of oil paintings, china painting, pottery and wood carving.

Adding to the interest was the exhibition of pottery making, which was demonstrated by Mrs. Hammond and persons who were exhibiting pottery. A demonstration of hook rugs was given by Mrs. John Hedley, her work being attached to a frame.

Two beautiful paintings by the late Dr. Ernest Hall were loaned for the occasion and were of two scenes taken from the Parfitt's Summer camp at Gordon Head. The most fascinating one was the scene which showed Mount Baker.

THE EXHIBITORS
Among others exhibiting were: Mrs. George Holt, china and oil painting; Mrs. G. A. A. Hebdon, china painting and crochet work; Mrs. G. A. A. Hebdon, crayon pictures; Miss Hazel, china painting and poster designs; Mrs. A. L. Oakley, china painting; Mrs. Grace Desville, china painting and embroidery; Miss Nadine Thompson, silhouettes, which she mounted on note paper for those wishing to purchase them; Mrs. Nelson Goodwin, china painting and pottery; Ralph Holt, metal work and Mrs. I. Goodwin, china painting. Mrs. N. Phillips had a table of home cooking, the products of which were moulded to form sculpture work.

Tea was served during the afternoon by Mrs. A. Sabiston and Mrs. R. Snider. Solos were sung by Mrs. F. Loel, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Hole, who was heard also in piano selections. In the evening the guests were entertained by "Big Brother Al and His Gang" from the local radio station.

Birthday of Province to Be Observed

The Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter are carrying out their motto, and "keeping one hand on the traditions of the past," by commemorating, as in the past twenty years, the birthday of British Columbia, the colony that, at one time, only comprised Vancouver Island.

The public tea to be held in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel on Monday afternoon, November 19, affords an opportunity to those who are interested in the history of this colony, and they will also have the privilege of hearing an address from the recently appointed Provincial archivist, Dr. Kaye Lamb, who will speak on the valuable "finds" housed in the archives, some of which have only recently been added to the collection.

What to Do About "Acid Indigestion"

A WAY THAT RELIEVES THE CAUSE IN A FEW MINUTES

Scientists now tell us that many people who think they have "weak stomachs" or "indigestion" ... in reality simply have acid stomach.

But don't worry if you do. This condition is one that can usually be relieved in the space, now, of minutes.

All you do is take a bit of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—either in liquid form or tiny little tablets—after meals. This acts to almost immediately neutralize the stomach acidity that brings on your trouble. You feel like a new person!

You have fewer headaches. You lose those annoying "acid indigestion pains." And soon again you to men visitors, while the ladies will be attracted by a display of costumes, some early Victorian, and some national, which are to be worn by ladies connected with the early families of Victoria and others. The doors will be open at 3 p.m.

Y.P.S. News

PRESBYTERIAN

The Presbyterian Young People's Association will hold a social for all Presbyterian young people and their friends tomorrow in Knox Church, Stanley and Gladstone Avenues, at 8 p.m. This was previously announced to be held in St. Andrew's Church and it is hoped that all young people will note the change of place.

FIRST UNITED

This week's meeting of the First United Young People's Society was opened by a short sing-song. President Howard English presided. A debate: "Resolved, that the Outlook for World Peace is Brighter Than Ever Before," was the main feature of the evening, the affirmative being upheld by Misses Amelia Brydon and Margaret O'Neill, and the negative by Misses Gertrude Durkin and Carrie White. The Judges, Mrs. Nell, of Victoria, and Mr. Fraser, recently of Winnipeg, awarded the decision to the affirmative with 165 marks, the negative receiving 164 marks. An open discussion of the debate topic was held for a few minutes, and various opinions expressed. Gordon Robson was an able chairman for this part of the programme. The devotional was conducted by Miss Marianne Dobbin, with Miss Bessie Crowther assisting at the piano, and Miss Marjorie Coates giving a short talk on the life of John Macrae, the author of the well-known poem, "In Flanders Fields." Mr. Ernest Fullerton delighted the audience with several musical numbers. A social half-hour brought an enjoyable evening to a close. Instead of the meeting at the First United Church next week, the society will meet with other societies in the Metropolitan Church, where the Y.P. Union is holding a drama festival in which various societies have entered plays.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

THE SPADE GAME

The advanced player is justified in making gambling bids and gambling plays which the beginner should not attempt. The fact that an expert successfully creates a swing in his favor by an unusual and daring bid does not mean that a less experienced player should attempt the same trick. On today's first bid a singleton suit and then jumped to two no trump on a very weak hand. He did this originally in an attempt to shut out the opponents from reaching a game which he thought they had; however, when the subsequent bidding showed South that it was more probable that the game was North-South's than East-West's, he stood by a very dangerous redoubled contract. He knew the temperaments of his partner and his adversaries and was able to make certain inferences that definitely seemed to favor his hazardous course.

North, dealer. Neither side vulnerable.

North East South West
1♠ Dbl. 1♠ (1) Dbl. (2)
Pass Pass 2NT (3) Pass
3NT (4) Dbl. (5) Pass (6) Pass
Redbl. Pass Pass (7) Pass

1. On East's take-out double South, because of his great length in the ♠ suit, was bound to bid 3NT. He was not, however, bound to bid 3NT. He was not, however, bound to bid 3NT. He was not, however, bound to bid 3NT.

2. West's double is atrocious. However, the West player realizes that South's spade bid must have been made on a singleton or doubleton spade because his partner's take-out double almost certainly guaranteed something in that suit. West double accordingly to expose the psychic spade bid, completely disregarding the fact that he himself has a trickless hand.

3. South decides to throw a further barrier in the way of the enemy. Naturally, South has no way of telling that his partner has much more than a minimum opening bid that the opponents may have a game. He knows almost certainly that his side will be able to take seven club tricks without even considering the red suits and therefore that he can always run to clubs in perfect safety if he feels so inclined.

4. North knows that there must be something unnatural about his partner's bidding. South could not have a hand which would justify a spade bid followed by a jump to two no trump, but which would not justify a redouble on the first round. However North himself has considerably more than a minimum and decides to bid his hand naturally, leaving it to South to extricate himself if he chooses.

5. East's double is of course sound. He has no way of telling that his partner's double of one spade was made on nothing but length in that suit.

6. South, perhaps a little bit surprised by his own audacity, decides to stand by the contract of three no trump doubled. On his partner's raise to three no trump he hopes for some partial spade stopper which, combined with his own jack, will prevent the opponents from running the suit. If the spade suit can be stopped, there must be a good play to make three no trump with, as mentioned above, seven club tricks almost certain.

7. Since South decided not to run out of the double, he certainly does not wish to run out after his partner has shown the strength to redouble. South previously felt that he was gambling in not returning to four clubs. He now feels he must have a good chance to fulfill his contract, and at the worst should not be down more than one trick.

West, of course, originally intended to open a spade but when South stood by both the double and the redouble, he decided the spade suit must be well stopped. He accordingly opened the heart Jack. As a result South was able to make four no trump. In addition to seven club tricks and two heart tricks, South set up a diamond, as the opponents could run but two spade tricks.

North and South scored 400 points below the line and 200 for the overtrick plus the value of a game. Admittedly, the opponents could not have made more than a part-score in spades, but at the very worst North and South picked up 300 points by the double and redouble. I dare say that the South player aged considerably, however, between the time that the bidding was completed and the time the dummy containing the priceless spade stopper was put down.

Irish Eyes Are Smiling

—Central Press Photograph.

Forgetting troubles which upset their plans to marry, John Farrow (left), writer, and Maureen O'Sullivan, screen star, smiled as they greeted Maureen's father, Major Charles J. O'Sullivan, retired officer of the Connaught Rangers, on his arrival in Los Angeles from Ireland. Miss O'Sullivan and Mr. Farrow hope for papal sanction to marry, having appealed their case to the Supreme Rota at the Vatican, Farrow being a divorced man. Major O'Sullivan, who was wounded during the Great War, is the son of Sir Daniel O'Sullivan, and is a popular figure among Irish sportsmen.

HARVEST SUPPER HELD

The annual harvest supper of St. Columba Church took place, recently, in Strawberry Vale Hall. The tables were prettily decorated with Autumn flowers. About 130 persons partook of supper, after which a short musical programme was rendered by St. Mathias' choir. Mrs. Colin Cummins won the hearts of the young people with several comic recitations, and the evening closed with community singing. Members of the W.A. were also present, and their help on this occasion and for donations of food and cash given by friends in the district. The next regular meeting of the W.A. will be held at the home of Mrs. Huntington.

Tablet Is Dedicated to Famous Women

Four women of Chelsea, each renowned in her day, were commemorated on October 27, when a tablet to their memory was unveiled and dedicated in Chelsea Old Church, says an article in 'The Times' (London).

The tablet, which is the gift of the graduates of Crosby Hall and of the Chelsea Society, bears the names of Margaret Roper, the favorite daughter of Sir Thomas More; of Magdalen Herbert, mother of George Herbert, the poet, and friend of John Donne; of Mary Astell, a pioneer of women's emancipation; and of the herbalist, Elizabeth Blackwell. Three of these women certainly lie buried in the Old Church at Chelsea, and the fourth, Margaret Roper, is traditionally said to be buried there also.

ON WALL OF CHAPEL

The tablet, designed by Mrs. Mary Gillick, has been placed on the eastern wall of the chapel rebuilt by Sir Thomas More; on it is carved the head of Margaret Roper, and underneath are posies of different flowers emblematic of the women whom the tablet commemorates.

Dr. Maude Royden, who gave the address, said that it was a curious coincidence that the thought of violence, of ungodliness, and of lack of charm had been associated with those who began the struggle to procure for women the right to do more than was expected of their sex.

The actions of these four women had that grace and charm which made greatness so infinitely more attractive. Charn seemed to cling around Margaret Roper and her father, Sir Thomas More, and one could not help wondering whether the course of the reformation might not have been a little more gracious if it had followed the character of men like Colet, Erasmus and More rather than of Cranmer and Luther.

ART OF CONVERSATION

Magdalen Herbert was the friend of Donne, whose prose haunted the memory like great and tragic music. He and many others gathered at her house in Chelsea. Chelsea had been a place blessed with many artists, but this must have been one of the loveliest moments in Chelsea's life. Magdalen Herbert was the inspirer of many of those who met at her home, and seemed to have had the power of making people happy. Conversation was not an art easily practised by English people, who generally either listened or conducted a monologue. One of the greatest pleasures of life in Magdalen Herbert's circle it was J. S. Dennis, and Stewart Clark will act as judges, and space will be provided on the programme for any of the audience who may wish to express views as to the ranking of the plays.

The box office for the exchange of other two women, a pioneer. She was the author of that oddly entitled book, "A Serious Proposal to the Ladies." She linked together the ideas of education and emancipation, and proposed to found a college where women might fit themselves for the emancipation which they desired.

CURIOUS HERBAL

Elizabeth Blackwell completed in 1737 her "Curious Herbal," in which she described 500 plants in the Chelsea Physic Garden opposite which she lived. It was not always realized, Dr. Royden said, that medicine used to be largely in the hands of women in and before the middle ages. Then for a time this tradition died, and when women tried to re-establish it by claiming the right to qualify as doctors their claim was met by a violence of fury which surpassed perhaps the worst moments of the suffragist campaign. That seemed strange today, for surely the art of healing might be expected to be found in the hands of the sex which bore the burden of bringing life into the world.

Short Plays To Be Seen Next Week

His Worship, Mayor David Leeming, will be present at the presentation of four one-act plays by local playwrights, to be given by the Forbes-Robertson Players under the direction of Ethel Reese Burns, A.T.C.M., at the Shrine Auditorium on Friday evening, November 23, at 8:15 sharp.

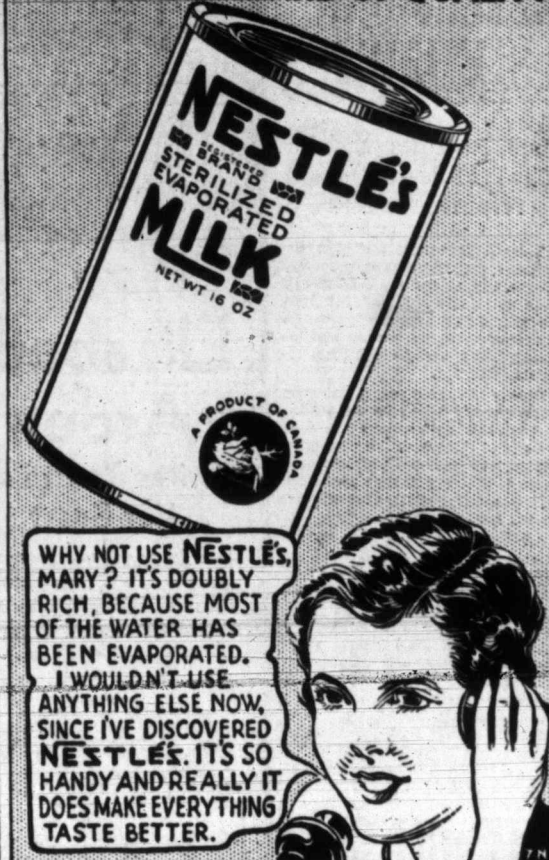

No effort is being spared to make the forthcoming production a worthy successor to those presentations which have earned this talented group of young people such a high reputation for good drama well done in the past few seasons. It will be remembered that the Forbes-Robertson Players won the trophy presented by the Vancouver Little Theatre at the festival conducted by that organization last year. Of the four plays to be presented next week, one will be selected to go to Vancouver early in December to defend this cup.

TO ACT AS JUDGES

Captain T. L. Thorpe-Douglas, chairman of the Victoria and Vancouver Island section of the Dominion Drama Festival Association, Mrs. J. S. Dennis, and Stewart Clark will act as judges, and space will be provided on the programme for any of the audience who may wish to express views as to the ranking of the plays.

MARKETS BODY TO RULE TODAY

Decision in Lower Mainland
Milk Scheme Expected
From B.C. Board

Milk marketing on the Lower Mainland, the main question before the Provincial Marketing Board, will be decided today one way or another, board officials intimated yesterday.

The decision now rests with the board, after hearing both sides of the argument as advanced by organized and independent milk producers of the Fraser Valley area.

Mainland potato growers interviewed the board yesterday, in reference to a scheme of quotas for marketing their product in Coast areas. After consultation with the board, the producers withdrew a written marketing scheme for further revision.

SAANICH BRANCH OF LEGION MEETS

Annual Armistice Gathering Held at Saanichton—Address and Entertainment Enjoyed

SAANICHTON, Nov. 14.—The annual Armistice gathering of the North Saanich branch, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., was held in Orange Hall, Saanichton, with a large attendance of ex-service men present.

The highlight of the evening was an address by Colonel Ross Napier, who dwelt at some length on the ex-service men's problems, and pointed out the fact that the Canadian Legion and kindred organizations had been the only means whereby legislation had been obtained to protect the interests of the ex-service men's cause generally.

The address was received with much appreciation and the speaker heartily cheered by the company.

The artists for the programme which followed were Bert Moore, pianist and accompanist; "Buster" Brown, comic vocalist; J. Lisle, baritone.

Lorne Thomson and his Buck Brush Rangers occupied the stage for thirty minutes and were well received and much applauded for their splendid effort. With the singing of the national anthem and Auld Lang Syne a very enjoyable evening was brought to a close.

TALK TO CATTLE CLUB POSTPONED

List of Record of Performance
Issued for the Month of October

The monthly meeting of the Saanich Jersey Cattle Club was held at Hazelmore, Sidney, by invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Moses, but, Dr. Gunn having been called away from town, had to postpone his talk upon "Malnutrition in Farm Stock" to a later date.

The 1935 Calf Club is now starting with prospects of about fourteen members, and its first meeting will be held on November 23.

The December meeting will be at the home of H. Brooks, at Marigold.

The following list is of cows, owned by members, that have qualified in Record of Performance for inclusion in the fifty-pound list during October. The figures in brackets are the days fresh, and the following figures represent the pounds of milk and butterfat produced, respectively:

TWO-YEAR-OLDS
Golden Standard's Colleen (58), 972, 49; A. W. Aylard.
Duntum You'll Do Victoria (111), 847, 45; A. D. Macdonald.

Babbacombe Trinity Anne (245), 618, 42; H. E. Burbridge.
This cow, with 467 pounds of fat to her credit and two months to go, has qualified for a silver medal.

Olympic Volunteer Cowslip (195), 764, 40; J. W. Horsland.
THREE-YEAR-OLDS
Babbacombe Standard's M'selle (245), 801, 51; H. E. Burbridge.

Olympic Christine (101), 890, 50; J. W. Horsland.
Olympic Dollie (113), 783, 50; J. W. Horsland.
Duntum You'll Do Golden (144), 704, 45; A. D. Macdonald.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD
Flyer's Margot (67), 1,107, 57; A. W. Aylard.

MATURE
Ubysey You'll Do's Becca (80), 1,080, 61; A. W. Aylard.

BUSINESSMEN MEET AT SIDNEY

Report Given of Fire Protection
Committee—Discuss Provision of Equipment

SIDNEY, Nov. 14.—The monthly meeting of the Sidney Businessmen's Association was held at Roberts Bay Inn. A large number of businessmen were present, the meeting taking the form of a dinner. A letter of congratulation was voted to be sent to the Elgar Choir, a local organization, for their recent excellent concert. The committee appointed to endeavor to have the ditch on Fifth Street (adjoining Stacey's Hall) filled in, reported that the Public Works Department would give the matter consideration.

G. A. Cochran, J. Lind, J. F. Simister and W. J. Readings were appointed a committee to look into the improving of the appearance of Beacon Avenue. F. N. Wright, in charge of the committee for disposal of garbage, reported that steps are being taken to provide a site for an incinerator. Negotiations are not yet completed.

George Gray, who is in charge of the fire protection committee, gave an excellent report. His information was gleaned from experienced fire-fighters from many points on the Island. A demonstration of the new fire siren was given. Residents from many points in North Saanich reported hearing the alarm clearly. Ways and means of providing an efficient volunteer department, with equipment, are being considered.

The next meeting will be held on December 5, at 6:15 p.m., at the Avenue Cafe.

Applicant—Well, sir, it's much harder work when you don't know anything about it.

JURY RECOMMENDS STRAPS FOR SAFETY

NANAIMO, Nov. 14 (CP).—A coroner's jury which investigated the death of John C. Carson, fatally injured on Sunday when struck by a hook thrown by the breaking of a link in the hoisting gear at the Frank Beban Logging Co. camp at Gabriola Island, today recommended that straps be used instead of hooks as a safety measure for employees when hoisting heavy logs and that the Sunday labor law be observed.

The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

"My dear fellow, there are two sides to every question."

"Yes, there are two sides to a sheet of fly-paper; but it makes a difference to the fly which side it chooses."

PROF. T. S. STERLING HERE IN INTERESTS OF CHILD SOCIETY

In the interests of the Fairbridge system of the Child Emigration Society of Great Britain, which organization plans to establish a school in British Columbia for the development of young farmers, Professor T. S. Sterling, of London, of England are increasing their former professor of English in the forces.

University of Calcutta, and vice-dean of the faculty of arts in the Egyptian University at Cairo, is visiting in Victoria. During his stay here, he will reside at the Empress Hotel.

Professor Sterling is enjoying his visit here, and is very enthusiastic about the country, saying that Canadians should be proud of it.

PLAYHOUSE HAS SPARKLING FILM

Clive Brook and Diana Wynyard Co-Starring in "Let's Try Again"—Has Fine Plot

Especially appealing to every married person is said to be offered by "Let's Try Again," co-starring Diana Wynyard and Clive Brook, of "Cavalcade" fame. The film opens today at the Playhouse Theatre.

Adapted to the screen from the Broadway stage success, "Sour Grapes," it depicts a problem which confronts countless couples: that of prolonging the honeymoon and retaining the romance throughout the years.

The protagonists of the picture are a doctor and his wife, both of whom think that their love for each other has died with the passing of the years. Longing to recapture romance, each turns to a younger mate. Their disappointments and subsequent discovery of their mutual love provide drama that is studied with scintillating wit.

The stage success, "Springtime for Henry," which enjoyed a run of eight months on Broadway and five months in London, will make its appearance on the screen as the added feature. The play, which was written by Benn W. Levy, proved to be so popular both here and abroad, that it was purchased for the screen by Jesse L. Lasky, to be produced for Fox Film. Featuring Otto Kruger as the gay bachelor, the screen version is reported to be even more elaborate in story, comedy and dramatic situations than the stage play.

CAPITOL Maureen O'Sullivan THEATRE shocked the residents of Santa Cruz, California, where scenes were taken for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Hide-Out," now at the Capitol Theatre, when she toured the local stores to purchase her wardrobe for the film. The wardrobe consisted of three house dresses, at a dollar ninety-eight each. "Hide-Out," directed by W. S. Van Dyke, also has Robert Montgomery, Edward Arnold and Elizabeth Patterson in the cast.

WHY THE SACLESS VACUMATIC

—with Ever-Visible Ink Supply—and Twice as Much of It—
WILL "TAKE YOU PLACES" IN LEARNING AND EARNING

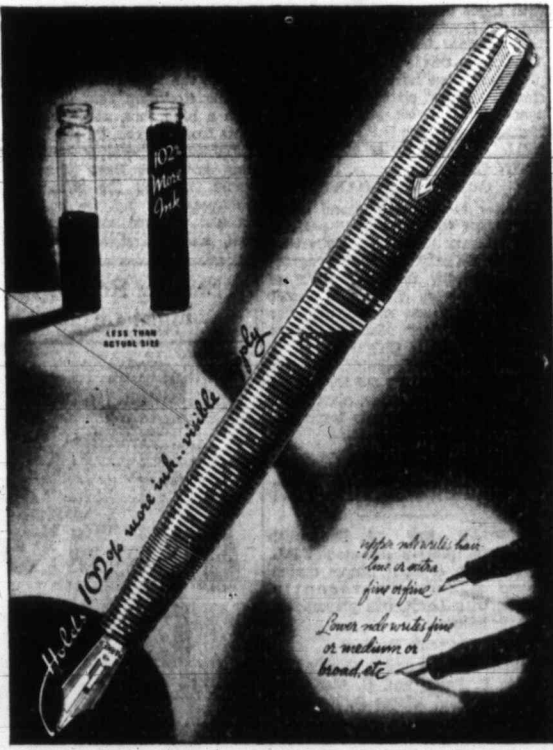

Read why the Youth of Canada will never again be Slowed Down by pens that run dry in the midst of their work!

YOUTH, with its vigorous spirit, has been quick to lead the great procession of alert-brained people who are casting aside their old-type rubber sac pens and carrying this utterly new and basically different creation.

Invented by a Scientist at a great University, and developed by Parker, this revolutionary Vacumatic forever ends the last objection to a fountain pen—ends having it run out of ink in the midst of your writing. It's the first sacless pen without piston pump, valves, or other parts that may fail later.

Go to any stationer's, druggist's, jeweler's, or department store, and see how it fills by Vacuum. See the ink rush in and fill it,—102% more ink than held by the rubber sac pen of equal size. And write different ways with its All-Purpose Gold and Platinum Point—your regular hand with the lower side; also fine or hairline with the upper side, for notes and numerals.

A gifted designer originated its non-breakable laminated barrel—built up ring upon ring of luminous Pearl and Jet, or Pearl and Transparent Amber that looks like Jet till held to the light. Then it lets you see the ink within—shows days ahead when the pen needs refilling. Save your old pen for sentiment, if you like, but make yourself—or someone else—a gift of the one pen the world always wanted but could not have until now. The Parker Fountain Pen Co. Limited, Toronto.

People often ask us, "What ink shall we use in a fountain pen?" Our best recommendation is Parker Quink, the miracle ink that cleans a pen as it writes.

AMUSEMENTS

On The Stage
Empire—"A Country Girl."
On The Screen
Capitol—Robert Montgomery in "Hide-Out."
Columbia—"Convention City," featuring Joan Blondell.
Dominion—Dolores Del Rio in "Madame Du Barry."
Playhouse—"Let's Try Again," starring Clive Brook.

Gay Comedy Now At the Columbia

It may be box-office allure to everybody else, but it's only Blondell to her.

Joan Blondell wanted to change her name and be billed as Joan Barnes in her latest First National picture, "Convention City," which comes to the Columbia Theatre today.

And why did she want to change it—the name with which she has achieved screen fame? It isn't numerology that's responsible—nor any other "fad," to quote Joan's words. No, it's more serious than that. It's love.

As the world knows, Joan is married to George Barnes, an ace cameraman. But she also wanted the world to know how much she values him. Henceforward, she wanted to be known as Joan Barnes on the screen.

In the picture she heads an all star cast which includes Adolphe Menjou, Dick Powell, Mary Astor, Guy Kibbee, Frank McHugh, Patricia Ellis and Ruth Donnelly. The story by Peter Milne is an uproarious takeoff on business conventions at which the tired business man spends most of his time pursuing wild women instead of solving his company's problems. Archie Mayo directed. Screen play by Robert Lord.

DOMINION TO OFFER FINE COMEDY-DRAMA

Suggested by, rather than adapted from, the famous "Peck's Bad Boy" stories that delighted readers a generation ago, the Fox Film screen production of that name, coming tomorrow to the Dominion Theatre, has Jackie Cooper as its star and Thomas Meighan as its villain.

"Peck's Bad Boy" is in no sense a "kids' story." It is a rich human document.

Jackie, as Bill Peck, believes himself to be the son of Henry Peck, widower, but is actually the latter's adopted son. He is happy with his foster father until the arrival of Aunt Lily and her small son, Horace. These two set out to allegiate father and son, so that Horace may usurp Bill's place in the Peck household. They nearly succeed.

Golfer: "What's the idea, mon, borrowing me half-crown and laying it near th' wee ball like that?"

Pro: "I must do something to prevent you lifting your head."

"COUNTRY GIRL" ON EMPIRE STAGE

Victoria Operatic Society's Brilliant Musical Comedy Has Premiere This Evening

Everything is in readiness for this evening's premiere of Lionel Monckton's delightful and entertaining musical comedy, "A Country Girl," which will be presented by the Victoria Operatic Society at the Empire Theatre, and will be repeated tomorrow and again on Saturday.

This light opera holds a great deal of promise for the music-lovers of Victoria. Its songs have been popular for over a quarter of a century, and what music lover does not delight in such old favorites as "Try Again Johnnie," "Come Down to Devonshire," "Yo, Ho, Little Girls" and "Molly, the Marchioness." There is something eternally youthful about such numbers and they have been popular since Monckton first presented his musical comedy in Daly's Theatre in London.

Among those who will carry the principal roles are Doreen Wilson, Margery Benson, Jack Townsend, Alec McGown, J. Matheson, Harry Johns, Fraser Lister, Thelma Johns, Phyllis Deaville, Doreen Danell, Jack Child, Mildred Hamlet and Alva Wetherell.

Luxton, Happy Valley

Mr. and Mrs. A. Hankin celebrated their wedding anniversary on Saturday evening at their home on Happy Valley Road, the guests all arriving in fancy dress costumes of various kinds. Wilfred Hankin and Dorothy Ramsfield were dressed as Jack and Jill. Court whist was played during the evening, and the prizes were won by Mrs. H. A. Baxter and Mr. Ramsfield. Mrs. W. Caton and Mr. J. Trace. Mrs. J. Trace proposed a toast to the bride and groom of nine years ago, on behalf of the guests, in his usual happy manner, and Mrs. Hankin was presented with a beautiful bouquet of chrysanthemums, a gift of chocolates and a pot plant and bon-bon dish. Supper was served at a beautifully decorated table, with a wedding cake in the place of honor. Singing brought the evening to a happy close.

Week-end guests of Mrs. A. Hankin are her sister, Miss Dyer; Mrs. Osborne and Mrs. Flack, all of Victoria.

A successful dance and two basketball games were held recently in the gymnasium of the Victoria Boys' Club. The basketball games were defeated by the visiting Cardinal girls and Lake Hill senior boys.

Messrs. N. Rhode, S. Poirier, W. Whybrow, G. Carr and F. Newham have returned from a hunting trip at Shawanigan Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Smith have returned from a holiday, visiting friends and relations in Vancouver.

RUGBY PRACTICE

J.B.A.A. Senior Rugby fifteen will hold an important practice at the Royal Athletic Park this evening at 7 o'clock. All players are requested to attend.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

"There isn't much to tell, Nancy. 'Have you any plans?' 'Only that I am going to stay here for a bit and keep Penelope with me, and then I shall go back with her to Maline for Christmas.' 'Go back?' Nancy's tone was incredulous. 'Yes, I promised.' 'But surely you are not going to shut yourself up in that ghastly place for the winter?' 'It isn't ghastly, and I have some good friends there.'"

She wondered what Nancy would think of these friends—of old John and young John, of Evelyn and Priscilla, of the plain farmhouse, and of the oysters which would be bought with hoarded pennies.

"Oh, I couldn't disappoint them, she said, with a break in her voice. 'There are some darling children.' 'Nancy was practical. 'The thing you have to do is to get the most out of your money. The world is before you, my dear.' 'But what kind of world?' Joan's eyes were troubled.

"Heavens, child," Nancy bent her head and kissed her, "don't begin to ask yourself questions. Just live from day to day, and thank the gods for youth and the capacity to enjoy."

Joan's eyes went wet. "I think I'm tired," she said. "I can't imagine myself just now enjoying anything."

Joan Wondered What Nancy Would Think of Those Friends.

Nancy gave her a shrewd glance. "Run along and let Farley give you a massage and tuck you up to bed. Do you know how lucky you are, my dear? To have a maid to yourself? I'd sell my soul for some one to do my hair and draw my bath."

"Farley's a dear," Joan said, "but I'm not used to having people all ways about. I like being alone, and looking after my own things."

She went away, and Nancy, getting herself into a black satin robe with green and gold dragons writhing over it, waited for Drew.

When at last she heard him, she opened the door between their rooms. "Can you talk to me for a minute?"

"Of course."

She went in, sat down and lighted a cigarette. "Drew," she said, "this is the moment to get busy."

He leaned on the back of a chair and looked at her. "What do you mean?"

"I mean to make up with Joan. She is low in my mind. She won't have much resistance."

He shook his head. "You saw her manner. She would hardly speak to me."

"I don't blame her. You made an awful idiot of yourself when you tried to force a clandestine marriage."

He blazed back at her: "I was an idiot to tell you: 'I always tell me everything.' 'You drag it out of me... 'I don't."

"Oh, well, why quarrel? We've got to stick together!" Nancy's pointed finger nail tapped the polished wood of the dresser as she took stock of the situation. "Look here, Drew, did you know Adelaide was going to leave Joan her money?"

"She said something that made me think she might."

"So you decided to take the gamble."

"Yes."

She shrugged her shoulders. "I told you that the time you and Adelaide were making a lot out of nothing. Between the two of you, you drove the child away... and now you've got to get her back."

He was moody. "It's not as easy as it sounds."

"Yes... shall I turn it out when I leave?" "I'll be in again, sir." The old butler went down the hall to the little room where he sat when he was not busy. If he wondered why Mr. Hallam sought the rigid formality of the drawing-room at this hour, he made no sign. Jason was discreet and well-trained. Adelaide had seen to that.

Joan had found Farley ready to coddle her. "When you've had your bath, I'll give you a good rub."

"Not tonight, Farley. I'm going to talk to Mrs. Sears. And you needn't stay up. 'This won't be the first time I've put myself to bed.' 'There's no reason why you should now, Miss Joan.' Farley felt cheated. She had hoped for a bit of gossip. Adelaide had always talked to her maid. Farley wanted to hear about Drew Hallam, and what Joan thought of him. She trusted there would be no question of marriage. She had talked the matter over with Jason: "He hasn't a cent to his name."

"She ought to take a house in London," Jason said, "and marry a man of rank and title."

"She'd better leave Mrs. Sears behind," Farley said, vindictively. "A person like that don't fit into fashionable life."

"She's not so bad," Jason decided. "I've seen duchesses with no more dignity. She'd get by with the right people better than that Miss Hallam."

Mr. and Mrs. H. Maunsell, formerly of Macleod, Alberta, and Mr. Henry Maunsell, formerly of Red Deer, Alberta, and now of Vancouver, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Castley at the Lakeside Hotel, where they were renewing old-time friendship. Mr. and Mrs. Maunsell were among the early pioneers of Alberta, and their son, Mr. Henry Maunsell, has recently been transferred as manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Red Deer, to manager of the savings department in the main office in Vancouver.

Misses Betty Hemmingsen, Lucille Gillespie, Joan Scholey and Ruth Alexander, of St. Ann's Academy, Victoria, spent last week-end with their parents.

Mrs. G. Clarke entertained the Ladies' Bridge Club at her home on Tuesday afternoon. Prizes were won by Mrs. J. Castley and Mrs. W. Grosslock.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Ross and family, of Victoria, have taken up residence at Mrs. C. Doering's house, Lakeside Road.

Misses Alphonine Boulet and Lillian Castley, of Victoria High School, visited their parents during the week-end.

The machinery of the shingle mill, operated by Mr. D. Mottishaw, has been removed to the new mill at Nanaimo, where Mr. and Mrs. Mottishaw will reside in future.

Another jolly dance was held at the Community Hall on Saturday night. Supper was served under the supervision of Mrs. A. Boulet, Mrs. F. Reed and Mrs. R. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Forsythe, Mr. and Mrs. E. Mottishaw and Mr. E. Mason have left the district to take up residence at Nanaimo.

Mr. J. Kerrone will shortly commence logging operations near the Blue Grouse Mine.

Tears came suddenly to Joan's eyes, and she buried her face in Penelope's shoulder. "I am tired," she sobbed, "and oh, Penelope, darling, I'm so glad to have you."

When at last Joan went to her room, everything was laid out for her. But Farley had, according to instructions, gone for the night. Joan wrote a line for her on a table under the telephone: "I want to sleep late, Farley. Don't disturb me."

She sat down at the desk in her sitting-room and began to open the letters piled neatly on her blotter. Most of them were from Adelaide's friends—messages of sympathy, written on paper with crests and

Joan stayed for some time with Penelope. "They did not speak of Drew," and the older woman was aware of the significance of Joan's avoidance of his name. "He's on my mind," she told herself, shrewdly.

Joan spoke of her conversations with the old gentleman and the old lady. "It seemed so strange to see Aunt Adelaide through their eyes, as young and beautiful, and kind and sweet. It is dreadful, isn't it, to know that age can make such changes."

"It isn't age, my dear. It is the way one meets life."

"I know," Joan sat thinking about it, and at last she rose. "I'll have my breakfast in bed. Will you have it with me? Most of the women are having trays sent up."

"I'll wait mine early. You'd better sleep as late as you can. You are more tired, my child, than you know."

Tears came suddenly to Joan's eyes, and she buried her face in Penelope's shoulder. "I am tired," she sobbed, "and oh, Penelope, darling, I'm so glad to have you."

When at last Joan went to her room, everything was laid out for her. But Farley had, according to instructions, gone for the night. Joan wrote a line for her on a table under the telephone: "I want to sleep late, Farley. Don't disturb me."

WEDNESDAY LEAGUE SOCCER RACE TIGHTENS UP

Mythical All-Star Grid Squad Chosen By Canadian Press

Powerful Aggregation Selected by Newspapermen and Coaches From Big Four League—Montreal and Argonauts Have Four Players Named

By KILMER DULMAGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

TORONTO, Nov. 14 (CP).—Built for speed and offensive power, a flexible giant of a gridiron machine with running, kicking, plunging, charging, charging linemen and hard-tackling ends emerged tonight as the Canadian Press 1934 All-Star Big Four football team. Its make-up was decided by the consensus of ballots cast by coaches and sports writers. Overland or overhead, this team would advance as surely as its glittering cast has advanced all season, rising above nearly all good performers to gain election in balloting that was so close the mythical team has thirteen members instead of twelve: Mike Chapesuk, of Toronto Argonauts, and George Pigeon, of Montreal, share one inside berth.

TEAM SELECTED

The Canadian Press announced the Big Four All-Stars as follows: Flying wing—Abe Eliowitz, Ottawa. Half—Frank Turville, Hamilton. Half—Eliowitz, Montreal. Half (secondary defense)—Ted Morris, Argonauts. Quarter—Bob Clark, Argonauts. Snap—Low Newton, Montreal. Inside—Jim Palmer, Argonauts. Inside—George Pigeon, Montreal, and Mike Chapesuk, Argonauts (tied). Middle—Pete Jotkus, Montreal. Middle—Brian Timmis, Hamilton. Outside—Seymour Wilson, Hamilton. Outside—West Cutler, Argonauts. Only when they came to the inside, the big thumpers who work in semi-oblivion, did the selectors stumble. They were definite otherwise. The flow of ballots to the winners never once faltered. The great comeback of Turville and Timmis, all-stars in 1933 and left out in 1934, was an established fact from the start.

UNANIMOUS CHOICES

and Turville, whose backfield history is as packed with trouble as it is with glory, were almost unanimous choices of the twenty writers and coaches who voted. Jotkus, one of the most successful line-backers in a decade, received nineteen and Turville seventeen, one for the secondary half place.

Eliowitz's selection was never in doubt. Welch, the kingly year ago, held firmly to his backfield post though there was a falling-off in support. Morris, a more sensational player this year than last, was re-elected with scarcely any serious competition. Clark, a newcomer to Canadian football, went to quarterback and Newton back to snap by decisive margins. The selectors were of a mind up to this point, and they found themselves in agreement on Wilson and Cutler for the ends, returning these two brilliant tacklers to the posts they held in 1933. Timmis, a veteran of twelve seasons and still the toughest, fightingest wing-liner in football, was just the partner for Jotkus, they thought.

But all unanimity vanished when it came to naming inside wings. Palmer, a 1933 all-star, clinched one berth with nine votes. Chapesuk and Pigeon were even with six each. Carl Polombo, of Montreal, had five.

ELIOWITZ SHINES

While the All-Star backfield is unique with its three punters—Eliowitz, Turville and Welch—it carried many more weapons. One of the best forward passers in the East, Eliowitz runs the ends, runs back kicks, catches passes and plunges equally well.

Turville is sensational in the open field. He is one of the best passers in the game. Welch is his only equal in the Big Four as a placement kicker unless you forget Eliowitz; and Huck is a fine ball-carrier, too. The selectors packed just about everything—triple doses of it—into this back division.

Gordon Richards Rides 200th Race Winner of Season

LONDON, Nov. 14 (CP).—Gordon Richards, England's leading flat-race jockey, rode his 200th winner of the season, this afternoon, taking Manner to first place in the Hardwicke Stakes at Derby. He is sure of the championship, being seventy wins ahead of the veteran Freddy Fox, with only two weeks to go. Last year, Richards broke the long-standing record of 246 wins established by the famous Archer.

YOUNGSTERS MAY REPLACE TENNIS STARS

Budge and Mako Expected to Get Berths Left by Lott and Stoefen

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP).—Defection of George Martin Lott, Jr., and Lester Rollo Stoefen, world doubles champions, from the amateur ranks, has not upset United States Davis Cup plans or weakened the confidence of Walter Merrill Hall, president of the Lawn Tennis Association, in the country's chances of giving England a brisk challenge in 1935.

Loss of the world doubles-champions may be considered generally as a distinct setback inasmuch as they scored the only United States point in the challenge round last summer, but Hall said it did not constitute a serious blow.

"For the singles we've got a pair of seasoned and reliable internationalists in Wilmer Allison and Sidney B. Wood, Jr."

"Of course, it's pretty early to forecast what will happen in June, but for the doubles there is Donald Budge and Gene Mako, of the Pacific Coast. This pair, I'd say, shows promise of surpassing the greatness of Lott and Stoefen as a team."

O'Neil Joins Lions

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14 (CP).—Charlie "Tip" O'Neil, formerly of the Buffalo Bisons, but with Calgary Tigers at the close of the last hockey season, has signed to perform with Vancouver Lions in the Northwest circuit this winter. Manager Guy Patrick, of the Lions, announced today. O'Neil is a right-winger.

Tricking Sturdy Boston Rearguard

Toronto Maple Leafs inaugurated the 1934 N.H.L. hockey season when they won from Boston's revamped Bruins, 5 to 3, at Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto. Despite their defeat, Bruins showed a better brand of hockey than they have displayed for several seasons. Photo shows "Buz" Boll, No. 14, swinging away from the Boston net, whose guardian, "Tiny" Thompson, is prone on the ice, after a leaf attack. Extreme left is Eddie Shore. Babe Seibert can be seen just behind Nels Stewart and Dit Clapper, Boston front line players. Shore and Seibert, Bruin defence pair, are wearing protective helmets. Referee Bell is in the foreground.

Margaret Jenkins To Meet Oaklanders In Football Final

AKLANDERS and Margaret Jenkins school soccer eleven will meet, this afternoon, at 3:45 o'clock at the Royal Athletic Park, in the second division schools' football final. Oaklanders carried off the northern section honors and Margaret Jenkins cleaned up in the southern section. The final, today, between the two championship eleven's, is expected to be keenly contested.

Ernie Kenny Is Sold to Hawks By Duke Keats

EDMONTON, Nov. 14 (CP).—Ernie Kenny, defenceman with Edmonton Eskimos in the Northwestern League for the last two years, has been sold to Chicago Black Hawks, of the National League, according to Gordon "Duke" Keats, Esk manager. Keats would not disclose the price received for Kenny. Keats also announced that Johnny Sheppard who once played with Eskimos and then with Detroit, New York Americans and Chicago Black Hawks, has signed with Seattle Sea Hawks, of the Northwestern League.

Frank Nighbor To Boss Squad

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 14 (CP).—Frank Nighbor, former manager of Buffalo Bisons in the International Hockey League, was obtained today to pilot London Tecumsehs while "Toots" Holway, the Tec's manager, is away from the club on sick leave.

DEALATS BEAT MERCHANTS IN HOOP FIXTURE

Intermediate Leaders Chalk Up 44-15 Victory—Lake Hill, Burnetts Win

Presenting a smart exhibition of the leather handling code, Dealats, intermediate "A" boys' cage quintette, continued its fast pace towards the city championship, yesterday evening, at the Victoria High School gymnasium, by trouncing Fernwood Merchants 44-15, in a fast game. In the curtain raiser Burnetts' intermediate "A" girls' squad triumphed over the Cardinals by a 22-19 score, while in the final fixture of the evening Lake Hill were hard pressed to win from the Tillamucs, 35-27.

BURNETT'S DOWN CARDINALS

Showing a marked improvement over their previous performances, Bob Whyte's Burnett's hoopers meted out a setback to the Cardinals. The eventual winners went in front early and were leading 14-8 at the half-time interval.

Cardinals sliced this lead at the end of the third quarter and tried hard in a final session rally to win the fixture, and just missed.

Shooting with deadly precision, particularly when under the hoop, Dealats romped through to a win over the Fernwood Merchants, to keep their string of victories intact and retain first place in the intermediate "A" boys' division of the Victoria and District Basketball League. Leading 23-13 at the half interval, the winners dropped home twenty-one points to five by their opponents in the final session.

LAKE HILL WINS

Battling every inch of the way, the Tillamucs put up a game fight against the Lake Hill hoopers, only to go down to a 35-27 defeat. In the first half first one team and then the other took the lead, and when the half-time whistle sounded the suburban cagers were leading a 13-12 score. About half-way through the final session they started to pull away from the clubmen, and finally wound up the game with a victory.

Alan Le Marquand refereed, and the teams follow:

Burnett's—Beere (8), Purdy, Wilson (6), Alexander, B. MacDonald, T. MacDonald (2) and Mills (6). Total 22.

Cardinals—Hannon (7), Trotter (5), Crosby (4), Finch, Hall, Gaunt, Wells (1), Lewis (2) and O'Connor. Total 19.

Dealats—Robb (6), Coates (5), Taylor (4), McLean (2), Landsell (10), Campbell, Shepherd (11) and Naysmith (6). Total 44.

Fernwood Merchants—Price (9), Vout, Thomas, Denstedt (2), Wilson (2), Noel, Passmore (2), Hughes and Duckworth. Total 15.

Lake Hill—R. Mitchell (9), Jones, P. Atkinson (1), B. Mitchell (2), Cunningham (12), Bates, McConnell (2), and M. Atkinson (9). Total 35.

Tillamucs—Bradley (11), Baker (4), Miles, Hill (6), Petticrew (2), Woods, Passmore (2), Moxley and Nord. Total 27.

Musgrave to Go To Los Angeles Baseball School

RATED as one of the best pitchers in these parts for the past two seasons, Tommy Musgrave, ace moundman of the Sons of Canada club, will head for Los Angeles late next month to attend the National Baseball School. Musgrave has his eyes on a baseball career in the moneyed ranks, and it is with the intention of getting the proper polishing-up that the local flash will attend the California institution. He will spend three months in the school, which has a number of ex-big leaguers on its instructional staff. Musgrave will carry with him to California the best wishes for success in his chosen field from the many hundreds of baseball fans in this city.

VANCOUVER TO MEET SEATTLE

Lions Will Open Schedule Against Sea Hawks—Arnett to Play

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14 (CP).—Vancouver Lions will open the 1934-35 Northwest Professional Hockey League schedule at Seattle, on November 23, Guy Patrick, manager of the Vancouver club, announced tonight. Portland Buckaroos were originally slated to meet the Seattle club in the opening tilt, but Bobbie Rowe, Portland manager, asked for more time to get his club rounded into shape.

Jimmy Arnett, star defenceman with Lions last year and now playing for London Tecumsehs in the International League, will play for Vancouver this year or he won't play organized hockey, Patrick declared. Arnett claims he is a free agent, but Patrick stated he was registered with the N.P.H.L. and the N.H.L. as the property of the Vancouver club.

GOES TO CALGARY

Walter McCartney, second string left winger with Lions, will perform in a Calgary uniform. McCartney goes to Calgary under the agreement, whereby the other clubs of the circuit were allowed to choose a player who was signed with the Prairie club last year, in return sending a man to Calgary.

Jimmy Height, Saskatoon Wesleys amateur star, will try out for a place with Lions when they start their official training schedule tomorrow.

J. Lumsden and Miss Morrison beat Kyle and Miss McKenzie, 15-5, and beat Peterson and Miss Ford, 15-9.

Kersey and Miss Thompson beat Peterson and Miss Ford, 15-4, and beat Kyle and Miss McKenzie, 15-8.

HUDSON'S BAY IN DRAWN MATCH WITH OUTER WHARF TEAM

Goal in Last Fifteen Minutes Gives Rangers 2-2 Deadlock With Departmentals—Garrison Blanks Spencers on Slippery Pitch, 1-0—Navy Whitewashes Maccabees, 5-0

HAYWARD CUP SERIES

	W.	L.	D.	Pts.
Hudson's Bay	3	0	2	8
Garrison	3	1	1	7
Rangers	3	2	1	7
Navy	3	2	0	6
Spencers	0	2	3	3

number of occasions, and while they fought like Trojans, they could not break the deadlock.

Alook refereed and the teams followed:

Hudson's Bay—Baxter, Okell, Wyatt, Kennedy, Stevens, Oakman, Fish, Brown, Carr, Richards and Stewart.

Outer Wharf Rangers—Chalmers, Eastwood, "Scotty" Gelling, Bedford, Magee, L. Gelling, Rice, Doherty, White, Roskamp and Bourne.

Navy Blanks Maccabees

Running in a pair of goals in the initial half and three more in the final canto, Navy blanked the Maccabees, 5-0, at Heywood Avenue.

Ten minutes from the commencement of the game, Dave Marr, centre forward, opened the scoring when he headed the ball past Wilhurst, Maccabees' goalie. The second and final score of this half came from the toe of Tommy Watt during a scrimmage in front of the goal.

In the second session, Tommy Watt started the Navy scoring when he beat Wilhurst with a fine drive. Walker, left winger, made it 4-0, and then Will DeCosta, inside left, completed the scoring late in this half when he sagged the rigging with a hot drive.

Shrimpton refereed and the teams followed:

Navy—Caldwell, Whyte, Dovey, McDonald, Robinson, Hibbert, Benallack, Marr, T. Watt, De Costa and Walker.

Spencers—McMillan, Jack, Speller, A. McBride, M. McBride, W. Graves, T. Graves, Garnot, Fieldhouse, Embrey and Newell.

Garrison Triumphant

Showing better foot control and teamwork on a field they know every blade of grass, Sgt.-Major Mitchell's smart Garrison soccer aggregation breezed through to a 1 to 0 victory over Spencers, last year's league champions, at Work Point Barracks, in a hard-fought engagement. The teams played in a steady downpour, which made the grassy pitch extremely slippery, and the players found it difficult to stay on their feet.

Spencers opened with a changed line-up. Darrell Bissell was patrolling left wing and Dal Munroe was on the opposite lane; while Eric Moir, who turned in the best game of the day, was at centre-half, and "Red" McMillan, former goalie, was teamed up on the back division with Lloyd Cann. The Garrison had the same eleven as last week, with the exception of Stewart at right half and Harold Richard at fullback. The brilliant net minding of young Norm Stewarton, Spencers' goalie, was the highlight of the game. This youngster saved his team from a much worse defeat, making some spectacular saves of terrific drives, especially in the final half, when the Tommies were constantly pressing and driving.

EVANS REGISTERS

Ten minutes after the whistle, the only goal, and one which ultimately decided the outcome, was scored by "Buss" Evans, tall centre-half. Evans drove from thirty yards out, and the heavy ball caught the corner of the net, leaving Stewarton with little chance to save. It was a lovely goal. After this marker, Spencers made a few dangerous rushes, but Glendenning guarded his net well and turned their efforts aside. The half ended with the Garrison holding the departmental eleven in their own area.

"Right after the change over Spencers went away on a quick attack, but Borde drove straight in Glendenning's arms. McAllister and Worwick worked a pretty combination rush, which ended with the former shooting hard, but Stewarton made a fine stop. Again the young goalie saved Spencers with a great block from Miller, and shortly after Cook had tough luck when his rifle shot hit the post.

A few times Spencers broke away, but their front line work was unfinished on the slippery field, and they were repeatedly turned back by the Richard brothers. The Tommies were passing nicely, and only the fine work of Stewarton kept the score down as low as it was.

McMillan refereed and teams followed:

Spencers—Stewarton, McMillan, Cann, L. Bradley, Moir, D. Bradley, Munroe, Boffe, Glarie, Luxton and Bissell.

Garrison—Glendenning, S. Bichard, H. Bichard, Stewart Evans, Featherstone, McAllister, Worwick, Miller, Edwards and Cook.

Calgary, Nov. 14 (CP).—Calgary's entry in the Northwestern Professional Hockey League had a name today—"Calgary Canucks"—and the official colors of the team will be purple and white, Sam Timmins and Gordon McFarlane, owners of the franchise here, announced.

In former years, Calgary's professional hockey teams were under the team-name of "The Tigers."

ARMOUR AND CRUCKSHANK REACH SEMIS

Scottish Team Advance in Mid-South Golf Meet by Two Victories

PINEHURST, N.C., Nov. 14 (CP).—Tommy Armour and Bobby Cruckshank, the Scottish team, moved into the semi-final round of the Mid-South Scotch foursomes match play tournament here today by winning two matches.

They first defeated Sal Dibouno and Jack Patroni, youthful Westchester, N.Y., combination, 3 and 2. Then they won from Ted Luther and Vincent Eldridge, of Pittsburgh, 4 and 3.

Tomorrow's semi-finals are of thirty-six holes and the Scots' rivals are Jimmy Hines and Willie Klein, long-hitting Long Islanders.

Klein and Hines hugged par figures this afternoon in beating Ed Dudley, Philadelphia, and Al Otuel, Flushing, L.I., 2 and 1, after their rivals previously had eliminated Y. Philip Perkins, former British amateur champion, and Emmett French, former Ryder Cup captain, 2 and 1.

In the lower bracket, Johnny Revolta and Billy Burke will oppose Willie MacFarlane and Joe Turnesa. Revolta and Burke turned back Tom Creavy and Herman Barrow, 2 and 1, in the quarter-finals, while MacFarlane and Turnesa were winning from Henry Picard and Clarence Owen by the same score.

Grid Protest to Be Decided Upon Today by Bosses

TORONTO, Nov. 14 (CP).—Result of a telegraph vote on the protest by Montreal Football Club against a touchdown scored by Toronto Argonauts last Saturday, in a game won by the Toronto team, will not be known until tomorrow. President T. H. C. Allison, of the Inter-Provincial Rugby Union, said today.

He said a Montreal member of the executive had asked for more detailed information, and this was being forwarded today.

Argos won the game, 11-8, and Montreal was nosed out of the Inter-Provincial title by Hamilton Tigers with a one-point margin in the standing.

IRISH FOOTBALL

BELFAST, Nov. 14 (CP).—Linfield defeated Portadown, 3-2, in an Irish Gold Cup soccer semi-final match this afternoon.

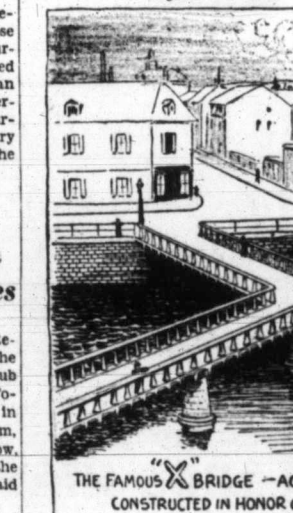

Cy Moore Sold To Baltimore

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14 (AP).—The Phillies today sold Austin "Cy" Moore, right-handed pitcher formerly with Brooklyn, to Baltimore Orioles of the International League, and took on three new players.

The rookies are Keith Parks, right-hand hurler from Pennsylvania State College; Art Bramall, an infielder with some minor league background, and John Andreksi, who served in the Middle Atlantic League for one year as a catcher.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Royal Freak—The fiery Pyrrhus, King of Epirus 318-272 B.C., was a close kinsman of Alexander the Great and a descendant of Achilles. He repeatedly defeated the Roman armies and advanced almost to the gates of Rome. Plutarch describes him as rather terrible of face, as he had not a regular set of upper teeth, but in place of them one continued bone with small lines on it resembling the divisions in a normal row of teeth. The expression "a Pyrrhic victory," applied to a very costly triumph, has its origin in the battle of Asculum, in which Pyrrhus defeated the Romans but lost the flower of his own army.

The Height of Bar Trading—In 1908, H. R. Beemer, of Lafayette, was attending a convention in Indianapolis, and in the course of the celebration a crowd was gathered in a fourth floor room of the hotel, drinking beer. Looking down on the sidewalk, Beemer recognized a friend, asked him if he wanted a beer, and then tossed the full glass down. The friend missed it, the glass struck bottom down on the sidewalk, and it didn't spill a drop, whereupon the friend picked it up and drank it. The incident was witnessed by the crowd on the street and can be verified in Beemer's home town—Lafayette, Indiana.

EARLY LEAD LIVES ENGLISH XI FOOTBALL MATCH

Noses Out Italy's Crack Eleven, 3-2 In Great Fixture

Trio of Goals in Opening Half Responsible for Close Win Over Invaders in International Soccer —Losers Play Final Half With Ten Players —Brook Nets Twice

LONDON, Nov. 14 (CP).—In one of the greatest international soccer matches England has seen, the English triumphed over a crack Italian eleven, today, by 3-2, before a crowd of 50,000 that included many Italian supporters.

The Italians, who played superb football after being outclassed in the early stages of the struggle, were perhaps unlucky not to gain a draw. They battled all through the second half with ten men, after being three goals in arrears at the interval.

Despite gully skies and an occasional drizzle of rain that kept the attendance down somewhat it was a gala day. The huge crowd, piling in long before the game, kept things going by singing English and Italian songs. Prince Arthur, Duke of Connaught, was among the spectators, and the teams were presented to him.

The English, with seven of the champion Arsenal club's players on their line-up, did all their scoring in the first half.

BROOK IS HERO

Brook, of Manchester City, scored the first two goals, and Drake, of Arsenal, the third, all coming within a space of fifteen minutes. The first was headed in and the second was scored off a free kick. Drake got his after the English forwards had combined in a smashing drive.

Meazze, Italian centre-forward, did all the scoring from then on, getting both Italy's goals within a few minutes. The first came after a fine combination thrust and the second on a free kick, the ball glancing in off the crossbar.

The Italians resorted to questionable tactics at times, and there were some booing from the English supporters.

The teams took the field after the national anthems of both countries had been played, and they were introduced to Prince Arthur of Connaught.

The game opened dramatically. England was awarded a penalty shot in the first minute when Drake was unfairly tackled a few yards from the Italian goal. Brook, one of the hardest shots in football, took the penalty, but his drive, though well placed, was well saved by Ceresoli.

The Italian shrieks of delight changed to moans, however, when Brook made up by scoring two goals within ten minutes. The first was headed in from a beautifully-placed free kick after a sustained English attack. The second came indirectly as a result of continued questionable tactics by the Italians. Drake was tripped and Brook scored off the free kick with a terrific drive.

INCREASES LEAD

England's stout defence held the Italian attack in a vice-like grip. Haggood was hurt in one of these happenings and retired for attention. Afterwards Bowden and Matthews, by clever combination work, enabled Drake to score the third goal in fifteen minutes.

The Italians seemed completely outplayed in every department. Haggood returned to the field and then the Italians were handicapped by a leg injury to Monti. They reorganized their defence, but seemed bewildered by the speed and footwork of the English attack.

Half time: England 3, Italy 0. The Italians were unfortunately without Monti on the resumption, losing one of the best defenders. They stuck to tackling methods that aroused the crowd, especially when Bastin was hurt. The ten invaders struggled gallantly and succeeded by wild methods in checking the tricky Englishmen.

England attacked fiercely, but Ceresoli performed miracles in the Italian nets in the face of repeated thrusts by Matthews, Drake and Bowden.

The Italians began to play sparkling football, but found Barker a stumbling block down the middle. England worked the ball to the goal-mouth and shot at every opportunity, but agile Ceresoli was a wonder.

The Italian defenders gradually became much quicker on the ball, and subdued the English attack which finished weakly. The Italians forced the pace as the finish approached, and in the closing minutes, with the mist threatening, seemed likely to get a deserved draw. They were unable to score again, however, before the whistle.

England-Moss (Arsenal), goal-keeper; Ceresoli (Juventus), right-back; Barker (Derby), and Coppinger (Arsenal), half-backs; Matthews (Stoke), Bowden (Arsenal), Drake (Arsenal), Bastin (Arsenal), and Brook (Manchester City), forwards. Italy—Ceresoli, goal; Monzeglio and Allemandi, backs; Ferraris, Monti and Bertolino, halfbacks; Curita, Serantoni, Meazze, Ferrari and Orsi, forwards.

Selected Issues Gain Ground at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP).—Demand for stocks was selective today and the market as a whole yielded a little more of the ground won on last week's broad advance.

Trading in shares remained fairly active, with turnover at 958,460 shares.

The general list improved a little in tone as pressure lifted from utility shares. Air Reduction, American Smelt, American Shipbuilding, American Sugar, American Tobacco, "B" Congoleum, Glidden, International Business Machines, National Lead and Reynolds Tobacco gained 1 to 3 points. G. W. Helme spurred 1 1/2 points to a new top at 130, and Homestake Mining about 10 points on a transfer of 100 shares.

On the other hand, American Telephone, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, General Electric, Sears Roebuck and other important shares sold off fractionally.

Selling pressure, against secondary railroad and utility issues unsettled the entire bond market today. Corporate loans sold lower.

Poland Republic 7s were off another 8 3/4 points to 113 3/4.

Virginia Vane Says:

STATUS OF FIANCÉE'S FAMILY WORRIES YOUNG LADY—WOULD BE WISE TO TALK SITUATION OVER WITH PROSPECTIVE HUSBAND

Dear Virginia Vane: I have been going with a boy for the past three years, and I love him dearly, but now that our marriage approaches I wonder if love is going to be enough to make out married life a happy one. Here is my problem:

He comes from a family of lower station than mine, and though he himself is extremely well bred, his people are really common. I know you will think me a snob for saying this, but I am terribly ashamed of them. I cannot enjoy myself in their company, and when I go to dinner with them I am disgusted at their bad manners. It is inevitable that my parents accept them after our marriage, and that, too, worries me. I know my mother and father are just as sensitive about such things as I am myself.

Do you think our marriage could still be happy, even with such a background?—F.D.

Yours would have to be a strong alliance indeed to survive the circumstances you mention. Undoubtedly you would have to observe certain duties that would compel you to be in their company quite often. Perhaps, if you had money enough to get away from them whenever you felt like it, you could stand their bad manners every so often, but as it is you are bound to be thrown with them quite a lot, and the criticism you feel would surely be evident and cause serious trouble between you and your husband.

I do not for a moment think you are snobbish in your criticisms of your future in-laws. If you have always been used to a refined atmosphere, it is perfectly understandable how bad manners would repulse you, and if you were a real snob you would not have let your love for this boy get you into your present dilemma, but would have given him the air long since.

Now you must talk the whole business over with your fiancé. State frankly what you find repulsive about his parents, and put the problem squarely up to him. He has probably gotten so used to his people that their carelessness has ceased to bother him, but I am sure that if you told him he would see your point immediately. You'd better not hold anything back, for only a perfect understanding on the subject will help you over this difficulty.

If he sees the situation eye to eye with you, it is very likely that he will find a way to protect you from the unpleasantness of their company, and your marriage will succeed, but if he feels that you are being snobbish it is better that you do not attempt matrimony with so many ghosts to be laid.

ADMIT MISTAKE AND RETURN HOME

Mary Lou: You are lucky you have a home to go to. So many of my readers in a similar situation have nowhere to turn. They have to make the best of it and try to talk themselves out of the bad mistake they have made. You are just standing on a false sense of pride. Your father can take no satisfaction from the fact that he told you your husband was no good. After all, he is years older and has so much more experience that if he didn't know these things he wouldn't be much of a father. He will welcome you home with open arms, I know, in spite of all he has said to the contrary. It takes a lot of courage to admit you have made a mistake, and lots of grief in this world would be averted if you girls weren't so afraid of admitting your foolishness. Your father is sure to admire your courage and to help you start over again. You must make a change, for there can be no hope of reformation, and the best place to go is back to the family mansion. Good luck. Keep your chin up.

INFORM PARENTS HOW NEW ACQUAINTANCE STARTED

Dear Virginia Vane: I am very much afraid that I have been picked-up. The other morning I dropped my vanity case, spilling everything all over the floor of the car in which I was riding. A young man helped me pick them up, and he had such nice manners that I was attracted to him.

Now I am frightened, because I will have to tell my parents—or will I have to tell them, I do not know what to do, as I feel that my father would not let me see him if he knew all the facts. On the other hand I do not know many young men and would welcome this opportunity to make a new friend.—Gladys.

I feel sure that if you told your father and mother your story just as frankly and honestly as you have told it to me they would understand and help you through this crime you think you've committed. I cannot honestly say that you have been picked-up as you call it. After all, circumstances excuse many things, and as you didn't deliberately chuck your beauty accessories around the car for the express purpose of coralling an innocent bystander, I would not call yours a grievous crime.

However, it is a risky business making an acquaintance so informally, and you had better spill the whole story to your parents so that they may decide what is best to be done. If they choose to take a broad-minded attitude on the subject you would do well to have several evenings at home with him before you allow him to take you out. I do not wish to frighten you unduly, for I have no doubt but that this boy is a gentleman in every way, but it is much wiser to take things slowly in such an unusual situation. Perhaps you have mutual friends. Go over your list with him and see. An introduction through them even though engineered in this way would satisfy conventions and must satisfy your parents as well.

Bess: It does not appear from your letter that you have done very much to make this girl your friend. Being friendly is the thing that most often attracts friends. Certainly she can have no reason to snub you, and if her friendship means so much to you, you'd better forget these fears you are building up concerning her feeling about you and go out and be friendly. Your timidity might very well be mistaken for exclusiveness. People don't expect you to be so self-conscious, and when you are afraid to speak out they often think you are being high-hat.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"ACCURATE"

A task which is done with care is not always accurate; but anything accurate, according to the original (now obsolete), use of this word, was always done with care.

This interesting revelation concerning a common word becomes quite clear upon examining into the "life-story" of accurate.

We have this word from the Latin ad plus curare, to take care.

Because of the fact that anything which was done with care was apt to be done to a nicely, accurate, in the course of time became synonymous with correct, which sense superseded its former meaning.

First Chorus Girl—If you had your choice between a millionaire you didn't like and a poor man you liked very much, which one would you marry?

Second Chorus Girl—Why, you're speaking of something impossible.

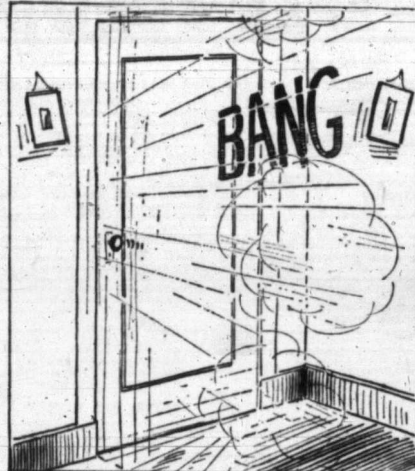

First Chorus Girl—Oh, it's not so impossible.

Second Chorus Girl—It certainly is. How could there be a millionaire I wouldn't like?

BOILS DISAPPEAR WHEN YOU TAKE

Burdock Blood Bitters

FOR THE STOMACH, BLOOD AND SKIN

There's no earthly reason why you should suffer the maddening pain of boils. They're a sign of bad blood and until the blood stream is purified boils and skin disorders will bother you. Burdock Blood Bitters will help you get rid of them by vitalizing the blood, making the skin clear, smooth and free from eruptions.

RECEIVE RATE BEING SOUGHT

City Council Committee Wants Lower Interest on Waterworks Mortgage

A 1 per cent reduction in the interest rate on the Esquimalt Water Works' mortgage will be sought of the mortgage holders by the water board of the City Council, it was announced yesterday by Alderman Andrew McGavin, chairman of that board.

"At present we are paying 4.5 per cent interest, and I think that the mortgage holders should be able to come down a point or two, now that banks have reduced their savings account rates twice, and the Dominion Government is refunding at such a low rate," Alderman McGavin stated.

The question of securing a reduction in the interest rate was brought up by Alderman McGavin earlier this year, and the council authorized that negotiations be made to secure reductions. The mortgage owners were approached, and promised the water board a report on the matter. It is with a few to securing an early submission of this report that the water board will again approach the mortgagees, Alderman McGavin explained.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

HOW DOES MENTAL PATIENT GET THAT WAY

You have heard the slang expression, "how does he get that way," when some one does or says something that is not, or does not sound like common sense.

The individual who does or says this odd or foolish thing may have just as much brains as the rest of us, so the question we naturally ask is, "how does he get that way?"

Now this is the question that the psychiatrist or nerve specialist asks himself when a patient or the friends of a patient consult him about some strange acts of behavior.

The psychiatrist questions the patient and questions the family to find out if the parents, uncles and aunts or other relatives also act a little out of the ordinary.

He also tries to find out about the home or business life of the individual, because the queer way in which individual behaves may be due to the atmosphere in which he works or in which he lives, or both.

"These patients often improve in a remarkable manner when removed from their family environment."

It is this point—the effect of business or family life and circumstances—that is being recognized as a cause of odd behavior and so the family physician who best knows the circumstances is now in a position to prevent these patients becoming mental patients. He steps in as a family adviser, without the use of medicines, and so orders or arranges matters that harmony, contentment, and "equal rights" become established.

These patients are not wanting in brains but in emotional balance. Dr. Lauren H. Smith, Philadelphia, says, "People who are emotionally and mentally sound go through stressful conditions safely. The unstable ones must be led to face and recognize the cause of their trouble."

The thought then is that even when the individual is emotionally unstable and reacts queerly instead of normally to "stressful" conditions the physician should find out just "how he gets that way" and by showing that the circumstances do not justify him in acting queerly, get him to see things from the normal standpoint.

Satisfied Guest—Well, waiter, that was a tip-top dinner. You know what that means, don't you?

Colored Waiter—Yes, sah. It's one that you top off with a tip.
